Service Study Sought

Police, Fire Units Might Cut Costs

A study of the possibility of establishing area-wide police and fire services for Greater Victoria, has been urged by city manager Cecil Wyatt.

In his lengthy report on the city's financial condition presented yesterday to the finance committee, the manager made the suggestion as one of seven methods of cutting costs and obtaining further revenue.

He has urged that requisite action be taken to study the unification of the departments as a means of saving money.

NOT ENVIABLE

Mr. Wyatt said that this and other means will be necessary to guarantee a sound financial future for the city. He states that while Victoria is "not in an enviable position," it is solvent.

If the protective services of fire and police "were metropolitan in character and serving Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Saanich and Victoria, would (it) not be more economical and efficient?" he said.

"An estimate was given," Mr. Wyatt concluded, "that the saving by such unification would run into tens of thousands of dollars to be shared by the four benefitting municipalities."

Crewmen Rescued From Half-Ship by Raft

Survivor leaps from deck of the after section of broken tanker Fort Mercer into the water near a life raft. The half-ship was brought to Brooklyn by three tugs, including the Foundation Josephine of Halifax. A new front end will be built on.—(INP Soundphoto).

Crewmen aboard the Coast Guard cutter Eastwind haul in the life raft with survivor aboard. Rescue of the majority of the crew took place at sea. Ten crewmen, joined by six men from rescuing tugs, stayed aboard while the half-ship was towed to harbor.

Hoof, Mouth Attack Threatens Imports Of Meat Into B.C.

Embargo on Prairie Livestock Considered, But Held Doubtful

Canadian Minister of Agriculture James G. Gardiner said here yesterday that closing of the provincial boundary between B.C. and Alberta to keep out hoof-and-mouth diseased cattle "doesn't look logical."

Mr. Gardiner arrived in Victoria for a two-week holiday before attending the B.C. Natural Resources conference, but said that he would probably be meeting today with provincial agricultural department officials on the outbreak of cattle disease.

Provincial government authorities yesterday said that the B.C.-Alberta boundary might have to be closed, as is the entire U.S.-Canadian border, to shipments of cattle from the prairies.

LEGAL QUESTION

Mr. Gardiner said that before such a step could be taken, he would have to consult with the federal department of justice to find out on whose authority such closure would be ordered.

He said present measures being taken to restrict spread of the disease seem adequate, and that th area of infection, near Regina, Saskatchewan, is in a very small beef-producing centre.

He said he hoped that the U.S. ban on Canadian cattle would not be a long one, but that talks are being carried on in Washington. The ban would leave Canada with no export market at all, Mr. Gardiner said.

Provincial agriculture department authorities say they are ready to co-operate with Ottawa in any way possible to prevent the spread of the disease.

SINGLE ANIMAL

Some freight cars full of infected livestock may already have crossed the border. The big headache for federal agents in B.C. right now is to run down infected animals and meat and destroy them.

If even one infected animal slips past the federal authorities, it could be disastrous.

"You could carry enough of the virus on the head of a pin to wipe out the livestock population of the whole province," a provincial authority said.

The disease could also spread to cattle herds of deer, elk and caribou in the province. "If it ever gets up into the mountains, we'll never be able to stop it," a spokesman said.

LITTLE KNOWN

Little is known about the devastating disease. This is believed to be Canada's first major outbreak. The nearest recorded instance of the disease in recent years is in Mexico.

It is likely the federal government will bring in a team of advisers from Mexico. The Mexican government has been waging an all-out war on hoof-and-mouth disease for years. The country's entire livestock industry was seriously threatened about two years ago.

As far as is known, the disease is not dangerous—certainly not fatal—to man. It mainly attacks ruminants, although it can be carried by any mammal.

Control methods consist generally of killing all infected animals and any suspected of carrying the disease. All fodder and other materials with which the animals have come in contact are destroyed. Sheds and other small buildings are often burned. Larger and more expensive buildings and freight cars are disinfected with live steam.

Closing of the inter-provincial border would leave a vast hole in British Columbia's meat supply.

Figures for 1950, latest available, show that during the year B.C. imported from the prairies a total of 235,000 hogs, 56,000 cattle, 26,000 calves and 27,000 sheep and lambs.

The province also imported 6,750,000 pounds of dressed beef and veal, and 9,600,000 pounds of pork and pork products.

In the same year B.C. shipped to the prairies only 11,000 head of cattle and calves and 10,500

Killing Begins Today

REGINA, Feb. 25 (CP). — Slaughter of infected animals in the Saskatchewan foot-and-mouth disease outbreak begins tomorrow. Royal Canadian Mounted Police will shoot the animals at the 22 infected premises.

Final diagnosis of the outbreak as foot-and-mouth disease was announced today in Ottawa. Earlier it had been hoped it would turn out to be stomatitis, a much milder disease.

Federal authorities here reported that about 1,350 animals will be destroyed. These include 1,015 cattle, 193 swine and 140 sheep worth about $360,000 if healthy.

The officials said there is a good chance of eradicating the disease on the spot.

The affected premises are confined to two of nine municipalities in the quarantined area and one other municipality.

B.C.H.I.S. Inquiry Member Urges End to Co-Insurance

The provincial government could abolish co-insurance charges without special legislation, Walter Hendricks (Lib., Nelson-Creston) told the provincial legislature yesterday.

Mr. Hendricks, a member of the eight-man legislative board appointed last year to investigate the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, spoke in place of Sydney Smith (Lib., Kamloops), chairman of the board. Mr. Smith is still suffering from injuries he got in a car accident last Thursday night.

Mr. Hendricks said he agreed with the government's announced policy of shelving the inquiry board's comprehensive report until after a general election.

But, he said, "Naturally I am disappointed that this report is not going to be dealt with during this session."

He said it will take time for the people to become familiar with the report.

TIME TO DIGEST

"Give the people time to digest it," he urged, "and give them an opportunity to elect a government that will implement this report."

He said he hoped that "after more serious thought has been given to (this) report, consideration will be given to the large, large group of those who are suffering considerable hardship: the low-income groups."

"Co-insurance can also very readily be in this classification," he said, "and I feel sure this government can implement this without legislation."

The inquiry board report urged immediate abolition of co-insurance charges, under which a hospital patient can be charged as much as $35 in addition to his hospital insurance premiums.

The board also recommended that the provincial government pay the premiums of persons in low-income groups.

Mr. Hendricks also urged the government to do something to improve the insurance service's public relations.

Turning to other matters, Mr. Hendricks commended the government for the work of its committee on the Doukhobor problem over the last two years.

POSITIVE STAND

"If the government does not take a firm and positive stand—and give serious consideration to this committee's report—if they are going to hesitate and let a minority group or section in this province influence this committee's thinking—then I have every reason to believe our Doukhobor problem is further from being solved than it ever was.

"This would be disastrous," he said.

Mr. Hendricks praised the government's forest-managment policy, and hailed the Celgar development at Castlegar as a huge step forward for his district, which "has been sliding backwards for 50 years."

He lauded the government's public works program, and said he was pleased that the house will be asked for funds to build a highway from Squamish to Vancouver, and to complete the Northern Trans-Provincial Highway.

But he asked that completion of the Southern Trans-Provincial Highway be placed on top of the priority list.

Sale of Arena Suggested By Murdoch

Now someone wants to sell the Memorial Arena.

The suggestion was made yesterday in a meeting of the finance committee by Ald. Brent Murdoch after a brief study of the 1951 balance sheet.

"Can we sell this arena?" asked Ald. Murdoch. "No. I'm quite serious," he added when others looked quizzical.

Ald. Murdoch asked the question when he determined from the city comptroller Henry Watson what the true financial picture was. Although the balance sheet showed a net profit of $26,386 from January, 1951, to January, 1952, Mr. Watson said that the city lost about $35,000 each year owing to payment of debt charges.

CONTRACT TERMS

Under the terms of arena commission contract, the city receives $25,000 a year from the arena but meets debt charges of about $60,000.

"For the first 15 years it will be a loss but after that with no debt charges it will be clear profit," said Mr. Watson.

Ald. Murdoch contended that in six or seven years, Victoria will need an arena big enough to hold 8,000 or 9,000 persons.

Ottawa Names Cunnington To Korea Post

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP)—Canada's biggest job at headquarters of the Commonwealth division in Korea is changing hands.

Lt.-Col. D. W. Cunnington, 35, of Calgary, will go to Korea in early May to take over the role of general staff officer, grade one, at the headquarters of Major-Gen. James Cassels, the Scot who commands the division. The so-called G.1. is senior staff officer at such a headquarters.

Lt.-Col. Cunnington first Canadian to win the George medal will take over from Lt.-Col. E. D. Danby, 36, New Westminster, B.C., who has been G.1. since last June. Lt.-Col. Danby is expected to take up a new post in Canada.

Lt.-Col. Cunnington is serving on the directing staff of the Canadian Army Staff College in Kingston. He will be replaced there by Lt.-Col. E. W. Henselwood, 36, Winnipeg, now employed in the directorate of staff duties at army headquarters.

A graduate of the Royal Military College and of Queen's University, Lt.-Col. Cunnington has served with the Royal Canadian Engineers in a succession of appointments both overseas and in Canada.

Reds Charge Germ Assault

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 26 (Tuesday) (AP). — Communist China's premier accused the United States Monday of stalling the Korean armistice talks while conducting "callously-brutal germ warfare" in an attempt to prolong the war.

Defense Estimates Fall Short of Needs

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP). — Informed quarters now accept the fact that Canada's three-year defense program is going to cost a lot more than the original estimate of $5,000,000,000.

As the first of the three fiscal years draws to a close, indications are that the original estimate will be at least $500,000,000 and possibly even a full billion short—that is, at least 10 per cent and possibly 20 per cent.

Important segments of the production program, including warships, radar and the CF100 Canuck jet fighter and Orenda engine, are behind schedule, raising the second possibility that Canada may find parts of the program extending beyond the three-year limit.

Cabinet sources say, however, they think they can still meet on time their major targets which include a 40-squadron, 3,000-plane air force, a 100-ship navy, a total defense manpower of 115,000, including 50,000 in the army, by 1954.

The great bulk of the cost of the program is credited to Canada under the $300,000,000,000 defence buildup agreed upon by the Atlantic Pact powers in the Lisbon meeting which concluded today. Canada's Korea costs are the one major item not credited to her for N.A.T.O. purposes.

Lisbon delegates External Affairs Minister Pearson and Defense Minister Claxton are expected to fly home together tomorrow to report to cabinet on pact decisions.

Parliament, meeting Thursday, will probably get a statement fairly soon after the new session starts.

Authoritative reports say the total defense bill for the fiscal year starting April 1 will be in the neighborhood of $2,300,000,000 almost half the original three-year estimate. It jolts and probably wrecks the hope of people who have been expecting big income-tax cuts this year.

Logger Killed Near Youbou

DUNCAN, Monday, Feb. 25.—A Youbou logger died here today of injuries sustained in a logging accident.

Gunnard Karlsen, 49, died at Camp 3, after he had been crushed by a log.

Karlsen's mother lives in Sweden. He has no relatives in Canada.

His body was taken to Hirst's Funeral Chapel, Duncan. There will be an inquest, but no date has yet been set.

Nanaimo Plans Water Board

NANAIMO, Feb. 25 (CP). — Four districts surrounding Nanaimo held an exploratory session with city council tonight aimed at formation of a Greater Nanaimo water board. The meeting came as the first sequel to the recent extension of the city to include Brechin and Acacia.

Basis of discussion was a recommendation by C. E. Newcombe, works superintendent, that board be modeled after the Victoria one, and that negotiations be completed so that necessary legislation would be possible at a fall session.

Rhymes Told in Well Calm Tot for Rescue

LOCUST, N.J., Feb. 25 (AP)—For a long half hour today, a 39-year-old mother who jumped into a 10-foot well after her four-year-old son, calmly recited nursery rhymes until help came.

Mrs. Edith Massell, mother of four children, said she knew aid would come but her problem was to keep young Andrew quiet and afloat in the eight-feet deep water after his fumble into the well.

"I promised him ice cream, cake and no spanking if he would hold on to me quietly," she said after the ordeal. "It did the trick."

She was a little agbast when some toddlers ran to her door yelling "Andy's gone in swimming."

She quickly called a neighbor to summon aid and ran to the well some 200 feet from her home.

Police arrived in a half-hour with a ladder, and fished mother and son out. Both were reported in good condition.

Atlantic Allies Wind Up Most Successful Parley

LISBON, Feb. 25 (AP) — The Atlantic Allies closed their historic meeting today with agreements to rearm Germany and put a massive western defense buildup in high gear. They invited Sir Oliver Franks, Britain's ambassador to Washington, to be N.A.T.O.'s administrative boss, with headquarters in Paris.

Foreign, defense and finance ministers of the 14-country North Atlantic Treaty Organization council met for five days. They hailed their conference as the most successful of the nine held since N.A.T.O.'s organization in 1949.

They had drawn up blueprints for a master plan for defending the west against Communist aggression and set about to reorganize the sprawling setup under a streamlined non-military headquarters in Paris to work at the side of General Eisenhower's supreme military command.

The ministers agreed to spread a network of some 200 jet-fighter and atom-bomber bases along the 2,000-mile front facing the Iron Curtain to the east. Gen. Eisenhower is to get 50 divisions and 4,000 aircraft by the end of this year and double that in two years.

They gave the green light to the formation of a six-country European defense community which would put West German troops in a one-uniform army at the side of those from France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Italy and Luxembourg.

The ministers telephoned an invitation to Franks in Washington to become N.A.T.O. secretary-general.

Franks asked for two days to consider whether he will accept.

Until today, L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, was mentioned as the likely choice as first N.A.T.O. secretary-general.

Most immediate action resulting from the Lisbon decisions will be to start work on $500,000,000 worth of airfield, communications and headquarters.

U.S. Boycott of Livestock May Change Meat Prices

EDMONTON, Feb. 25 (CP).—Western cattle men said today that one of the first consequences of the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan will be a drop in meat prices.

Kenneth Coppock, executive secretary of the Western Stock Growers' Association, said in Calgary an embargo on Canadian cattle imports imposed by the United States will last at least a year, leaving only the domestic market open to Canadian cattle raisers.

One Winnipeg livestock trader expressed the opinion the U.S. embargo may not be lifted "in our lifetime" if senators from cattle states use the outbreak as a pretext to keep the import ban in effect indefinitely.

Canada's cattle and meat exports to the United States last year approximated $130,000,000.

Mr. Coppock said the embargo "means we will be in full competition with other foods (on the domestic market) and our prices likely will settle at a lower level." He appealed to stock men "to prevent a wide open price break by marketing in the usual way and not trying to rush their animals out."

In Winnipeg, trade at the St. Boniface Stockyards, one of western Canada's biggest livestock markets, came virtually to a halt.

Ella Trepel, president of the livestock exchange, said meat prices will drop within the next few days. He said the U.S. embargo will probably drive the price of steers down by $50 or $60 a head.

"My opinion is that we are going to see lower prices for cattle and beef, since we will always have a surplus which will not be exportable to the United States while the embargo is on," said Mr. Trepel.

On the other hand, an Edmonton livestock dealer saw a possibility of higher prices.

"If quarantines were to make the supplying of even local needs more difficult, the worst types of inflation could occur," said this dealer, who declined to be quoted by name.

"What is needed is carefully regulated marketing and purchasing until the crisis is passed."

The U.S. embargo will hit purebred breeders as well as the raisers of meat animals. Canadian breeders have built up a flourishing trade in breeding stock with the U.S.

Livestock trading closed down completely at Saskatoon. Guards were stationed at the entrance to the stockyards there to turn away trucks bringing cattle or hogs to market.

New Chaplain Will Serve Korean Ships

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP).—Chaplain George B. Hart of Vancouver is going out to Korea as Roman Catholic chaplain for the three Canadian destroyers serving under the United Nations, it was announced today.

He succeeds Chaplain J. R. P. Roy of Priceville, Que., attached to the destroyer squadron since October and who is going to the naval air station at Dartmouth, N.S.

Father Hart entered the navy chaplain service in October, 1951, and served for five months at the R.C.N. barracks at Halifax.

Born in Vancouver, he attended public and high school there. He entered the priesthood following his graduation from Laval University, Que., and for eight years served successively in parishes in Edmonton, Winnipeg, Regina and Trail, B.C. While at Trail, he became Roman Catholic chaplain of the local sea cadet corps and developed an interest in the navy.

Compensation Change Asked

EDMONTON, Feb. 25 (CP).—A special committee of the Alberta Legislature today recommended that compensation to injured workmen be boosted from 66 2/3% of his wages to 75%.

Thinking of Buying Victoria Real Estate

NOTHING could be a better and more lasting investment. We live in a fast growing community where values are constantly increasing. To buy a home, of course, is essential, but if that cannot be financed, buy a lot for future building. Whatever real estate you buy will give you a sense of independence. ## Talks Start Saturday On Thorny Suez Issue

CAIRO, Feb. 25 (AP).—Premier Aly Maher Pasha said tonight Egypt and Britain will open talks Saturday on the thorny Suez Canal and Sudan issues. But, he warned, if his government does not get what it wants, it will join the Egyptian people in their "struggle."

In a radio address to the nation, the premier said:

"We are about to start quick and urgent talks. The people should be informed that we are not going to negotiate on the principle of evacuation, but on how it will be carried out and the fulfilment of unity of the Nile Valley.

"If we do not reach our aims, we will join you in your struggle—this struggle in which every Egyptian will participate in a united effort."

A British embassy spokesman said the premier had invited Sir Ralph Stevenson to meet him.

Aly Maher was named premier last Jan. 27 after bloody anti-British riots in Cairo. He has taken a more conciliatory attitude than his predecessor. The current crisis broke out last October after Egypt repudiated its 1936 treaty with Britain, and demanded that British troops get out of the Suez Canal zone and recognize King Farouk as ruler of the Sudan.

ONCE A WEEK

By H. T. Matson

Blind-spot . . .

Darkness; and the rain-soaked streets threw up pools and triangles of treacherous yellow light. Street-lights cut in with cold, iridescent shafts; the headlights from on-coming automobiles and others waiting at intersections gave a crossfire of further distortion that cautioned the driver on the main street to slacken speed. [illegible] peered dazed from window to blurred window of his car while he railed bitterly against the rain and the mixed perplexing lights. Suddenly at an intersection he braked and his breathing became clogged and sterterous. "Dama!" he said trembling, "if I'd been traveling two miles an hour faster I'd have killed her." With the car curbed, he rested, watching the little girl in the dark clothes continue unconcernedly along the street. Fact that he had missed her was blessed relief —it was also a miracle . . . the little girl had crossed in a blind spot. God alone had saved her.

The sedan's motor thrummed out steadily. The highway was broad and smooth and due to the long run and the wish to get to bed, the speedometer had crept a little—the needle flickered indecisively between 68 and 70. Every few minutes the driver shuddered reflexively and yawned. Incessant opposite-traffic wooshed up and passed in baffling regularity . . . the hard, brittle lights were becoming bothersome. But the sedan continued swiftly through the night. "Only 10 more miles and then the hay! Swell!" . . . the driver depressed the throttle and the needle climbed jerkily to 75. Then suddenly the squeal—the horrific, diabolical squeal of hot rubber searing into black, clutching asphalt. The driver had dozed off, galvanically recovered, braked, and was now three-quarters ditched, and luckily unhurt. And unwaredly the cyclist pedaled on —the one with no lights that seconds ago had been innocently pushing through the blind-spot.

The high-backed truck, loaded with slabwood, kept booming right along. On occasional curves and rough-spots a chunk would leave its fellows to bounce merrily then settle often as not in the middle or side of "Highway 28." In the cab, Joe scratched a hairy forearm and grinned. "Last load and then a coupla beers. Mary'll be waiting at the corner. What a gal!" Joe's right foot lay heavier on the gas—and the truck bowled amiably along.

Ten minutes behind him a loaded convertible heeled around a curve and into the burning glare of another car. Both cars dimmed, but a chunk from Joe's truck lay like a death's head, in between. The convertible's left front wheel hit fast and squarely; followed three complete somersaults . . . then the helpless screams of panic and dire pain. "Guess that chunk of slabwood lay in the blind-spot," later summarized the police. "Cripes, what a mess!" . . .

Blind-spot . . . perhaps the worst hazard on modern streets and highways. Today's headlights grow more and more powerful; sudden dimming but meanly helps. There remains always a few seconds of total blackout, and anything caught in that period and place, is 99 times out of 100 as good as dead. Is there nothing that manufacturers can invent or do to obviate this snare? Quite a while ago an article in a popular and generally accurate current magazine dilated on the effectiveness of what is called Polaroid Light. Its beam is bluish (so said the magazine) and there is apparently no sharp descent from ultra-bright to dead dark, and on dimming, a clear penetrable area unfolds through which a car can proceed safely at any reasonable speed. Chief deterrent to Polaroid is expense. Not only headlamps but also windshields must be of the same Polaroid material. Re expense . . . the old cliche "Cost of Production" rises from arid manufacturing throats . . . in other words they'd prefer not to go to the trouble of disturbing present methods merely for the sake of saving a few ridiculous lives. If the Benighted States could assuage its godless appetite for chrome and gadgets, cars could doubtless be produced considerably cheaper, and Polaroid might someday get a show. Last words . . . Blind-Spot is the "Cancer" of night driving.

Hearings Set For Cabinet

Three delegations will see the provincial cabinet this week to press their demands for legislative action.

Representatives of the Canadian Legion will see the cabinet at a special meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

An hour later the cabinet will hear a joint delegation from the B.C. Teachers' Federation and the B.C. School Trustees' Association.

South Korea Releasing Too Costly Prisoners

PUSAN, South Korea, Feb. 25 (Reuters)—The South Korean justice department is to release 3,600 prisoners from jails because they are too expensive to keep. The ministry announced today the amnesty would take effect from March 1. Ten per cent of the inmates are political prisoners, and the rest petty criminals.

Water Board Official To Discuss Watershed

Ralph Davis, Greater Victoria Water Board commissioner, has been invited to address the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association on the "other side" of the Sooke Lake watershed logging controversy, association officials announced yesterday.

This address will probably be given at the March general meeting of the club.

Gordon Sword, five-year president of the South Vancouver Island Rangers, spoke to the members last week on the reasons why his association is opposed to logging the watershed area.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Feb. 25 (AP)—A truck loaded with about 80 men, women and children migrating from northeast Brazil fell into a deep ravine today, killing 15 and injuring about 50. The truck collided with a passenger car near Petropolis.

Eclipse of Sun Observed Under Good Conditions

KHARTOUM, Sudan, Feb. 25 (AP).—The moon eclipsed the sun today and in near-perfect weather scientist got a rare three-minute glimpse of what goes on in space close to and behind the sun.

Delighted by their good fortune, 70 scientists from 10 countries, including Canada, snapped pictures and took super-complicated recordings of nature's big mid-day blackout. They assembled in the Sudanese capital, virtually in the centre of the path of the total eclipse.

In some areas, just as in ancient times, the eclipse aroused fear. Moslem women in Iran drummed on copper kettles in an effort to frighten away a giant snake they believed was destroying the sun.

[illegible] starting at 11.09 a.m. (1.09 a.m. PST) day became night in this part of the world. The total eclipse could be seen along a 9,000-mile patch 764 miles wide.

During the fleeting moments, 17 scientific teams labored at a mass of astronomical and photographic equipment.

After months of calculation based on today's observations, they hope to unravel more of the mysteries of the universe.

Among other things, the scientists hope observations will help them find out more about the accuracy of Albert Einstein's famous relativity theory which asserts that the sun's gravity field bends light rays from stars passing close to it, making these stars appear to be where they aren't.

The observers began their recording here as soon as the first bit of sunlight became edged with shadow.

At first there was an unnatural dusk; then the moon completely covered the sun. After three minutes the sun began to show again and within another five minutes the light was normal.

Scientists came from Britain, United States, The Netherlands, France, Italy, Greece, Egypt and Switzerland. Canadian representatives were from Ottawa University.

Russia sent no team but presumably they were making their own observations at home.

Pipe Contract Given Firm In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25 (CP).—Arrow Transfer Co. Ltd. of Vancouver announced today it has been awarded a $500,000 subcontract for work on the Edmonton-to-Vancouver oil pipeline project.

C. W. Charles, president of Arrow Transfer, said work will begin in mid-April on the subcontract for unloading, stockpiling and stringing pipe along 260 miles of right-of-way on Trans Mountain Oil Pipeline Company's $82,000,000 project.

He said work on this phase of the project will take approximately two years to complete.

The award was made by Fred Mannix Ltd. of Calgary.

Trans Mountain's line will start at a point near Edmonton and follow roughly the route of the Canadian National Railways through the Rocky Mountains. It should be ready early in 1954.

Mr. Charles said his firm will start on a 100-mile section in B.C. from Vavenby to Blue River. A base camp now is being constructed at Vavenby, about 100 miles northeast of Kamloops.

Financial Overhaul of C.N.R. Expected at Federal Session

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP).—Proposals for overhauling the financial structure of the Canadian National Railways are expected to highlight the government's transportation legislation at the parliamentary session opening Thursday.

Purpose of the legislation will be to give the government-owned C.N.R. a capital set-up that will lift it out of this chronic deficit position. This is in line with a recommendation of the Royal Commission on transportation last year.

Another major recommendation of the commission will not be implemented at this session, according to present information. That is the proposal that the federal government take over control of inter-provincial and international highway traffic.

Most of the provinces claim they have jurisdiction of this field, but the Supreme Court of Canada ruled in favor of the National Government last year.

An allied recommendation of the commission was that the board of transport commissioners be enlarged to take in the functions of the air transport board and the Canadian maritime commission. The government does not plan to implement that proposal at this session.

The recurrent red-ink reports of the National Railway system, which tied together a group of ill-assorted and financially-bankrupt roads, have long been a headache. The Royal Commission recommended drastic adjustments in its top-heavy capital structure, which skims about $45,000,000 a year in fixed charges from what might otherwise be its profits.

Oddities

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25 (AP).—Curiosity gave passengers on a Chicago-bound airliner a few drafty minutes over Pittsburgh Saturday.

A soldier tried out the emergency door a few minutes after the plane took off. The door not only flew open—it flew into space.

The soldier, along with the other passengers, soon began to shiver in the air-conditioned craft. The pilot turned back and landed. The passengers, including the soldier, were transferred to another plane for the westward trip.

DERBY, England, Feb. 25 (Reuters).—Derby magistrates were asked to license a "concert of a musical nature" to be held in Derby on a Sunday.

But when they heard the titles of the tunes to be played they banned it.

The tunes included: "Send Me to the Electric Chair," "Gimme a Pig Foot," "When the Saints Go Marching In" and "The Bottle Is Empty."

The concert was to have been a "jam session" by "Mich Mulligan and his Magnolia Jazz Band."

Abduction Charge Laid Against Boy

MONTREAL, Feb. 25 (CP).—Police said tonight that charges of abduction and breaking and entering will be laid against 16-year-old Robert Patenaude, who said he didn't want to kill three-year-old Barbara Nemeroff but just wanted "to frighten" her parents."

In police line-ups Patenaude was identified by a taxi driver as the person who entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Nemeroff and made off with their child, leaving behind a note demanding $50,000 ransom.

That was last Friday night. Patenaude was arrested and the child recovered Saturday morning as they walked along St. Catharine Street, less than 12 hours after the girl was kidnapped.

Maximum penalty in Canada for abduction is 25 years.

Police, who made public the youth's seven-page statement, said he admitted the abduction. In his statement he said he snatched the child because he knew the father had money.

Coronation to Be Held Some Time Next Year

LONDON, Feb. 25 (CP).—Court circles announced tonight that the coronation of the Queen will take place in 1953. The exact date has not been set.

Some spring or summer day most likely will be picked so that good weather will be probable during the pageantry of Britain's most dazzling ceremony.

The court informants said considerations on the exact date and consultations with Commonwealth governments, already are in progress.

The coronation will serve as a gigantic get-together for the many people of the Commonwealth and colonies loyal to the British crown.

It also is a tremendous tourist attraction. Travel agencies already have lined up choice observation stops in windows along the procession route.

For the Queen it will be quite an ordeal, in which she will be arrayed in three sets of robes—the crimson robe of state when she enters Westminster Abbey, coronation vestments with the dazzling imperial mantle of cloth of gold, and the royal robe of purple velvet worn when she proceeds from the Abbey to be viewed by the millions along London's streets.

Inside the Abbey, the coronation will be witnessed by members of the royal family, lords and ladies, high diplomatic representatives of foreign governments and a few newspapermen.

Normally, a coronation involves at least a week in which a festive and spirited populace takes time off to celebrate.

The large amount of preparation for the coronation is believed to have caused delaying the event until 1953.

Outlets Protesting Congress TV Ban

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (INS).—Speaker Rayburn (D) Tex., today banned radio and television coverage of House committee hearings and stirred up a storm of protest from network and independent stations.

At the same time, minority leader Martin (R) Mass., launched action to override the ruling. Martin indicated a resolution would be introduced to revise House rules so that each committee can judge for itself the extent to which its proceedings shall be publicized.

Destroyer Blasts Enemy Positions

ABOARD CANADIAN DESTROYER ATHABASKAN, Feb. 25 (CP).—The Athabaskan recently hounded enemy positions reported being prepared for use as a springboard for an assault on islands held by the Allies off the west coast of Korea.

It turned into a two-way show. The Athabaskan blazed away all one night with star-shells and four-inch projectiles to discourage enemy movement and when light came her guns were turned on junks, troop shelters, observation posts and other targets.

As the destroyer cruised up and down the shore, enemy guns opened up. They were silenced by the Athabaskan.

The Athabaskan escaped unscathed.

Prince Philip May Become King Consort

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP).—The Sunday Pictorial says today the Queen may have her husband crowned "King Consort" instead of "Prince Consort."

In the established order of royalty, the 30-year-old Duke of Edinburgh has been expected to receive the princely title devised a century ago by Queen Victoria for her consort, Albert.

[illegible] surprise announcement giving the duke a king's title because the Queen wants it that way for her husband.

"The duke is man of independence," the newspaper says. "His brain and personality are a great potential asset to the country."

Officially, the Queen still would reign alone. Either as King or Prince, her husband's title would have the telling qualification—"consort."

The Pictorial says the higher title would be well received—"Nothing would please the people more."

| ½ cup Jewel Shortening | 2 tsps. baking powder |
| 1½ cups sugar | 1 cup milk |
| 1 tsp. salt | 1 cup finely chopped apricots |
| 1 tsp. vanilla | ½ cup finely-chopped nuts |
| 2 cups sifted cake flour | 3 egg whites |

Cream Jewel Shortening. Add sugar, salt, vanilla. Cream till fluffy. Sift together flour, baking powder. Add alternately with milk. Add nuts, apricots, steamed if needed. Fold in egg whites, beaten stiff but not dry. Blend lightly. Line bottom of 8" angel cake pan with brown paper, flour. Rub tube with Jewel. Bake at 325°F., one hour. Cool.

FILLING
1 cup finely-chopped apricots ½ cup sugar 1 tbsp. corn starch 2 cups water 1 tbsp. lemon juice
Cook everything in double boiler till soft enough to spread.

FROSTING
2 egg whites 1½ cups sugar ⅓ cup strong coffee ⅓ tsp. cream of tartar ⅛ tsp. salt 1 tsp. rum extract
Mix everything except extract in double boiler. Place over boiling water. Beat thoroughly about 5 minutes. Remove from heat, stir well. Add extract. Beat one extra minute, till frosting stands in peaks.
Decoration — Save ¼ cup filling to tint the swirls of frosting. Make three apricot flowers with scissors—cut apricots to centre, petal-fashion. Use green cherry pieces for flower centres.

Towards Better Relations

A COMBINATION of Solomon's wisdom and Job's patience could scarcely produce a statutory code for the guidance and governance of labor-management relations that would be completely satisfactory to both sides. The best that can be hoped for is a flexible code compounded of understanding and experience, of trial and error, which would preserve the intrinsic rights of employer, union and individual, creating a pattern for amicable negotiation and for settlement of disputes in fair and orderly fashion under the referee system.

That has been the principle and the history of British Columbia's I.C. and A. Act since its rewriting soon after the last war. Procedures have been tried, and errors have been found, though considering the wide scope of the act they have not been numerous. It was not to be expected that the legislature's special committee which recently completed a full review of the act would be able to propound the perfect remedy for each defect; nor has it done so. It has, however, suggested certain changes and new courses of action which might bring good results.

The first of these is the establishment of a labor-management council for the promotion of better understanding. At present employers and employees seldom meet at the conference table until there is a dispute, which is not the best of times for a frank and open exchange of opinions and suggestions for the betterment of relations generally. The joint council now proposed, if preserved as a forum rather than an arena, could be a beneficial adjunct to the machinery created for the handling of specific disputes.

In the processes of negotiation the committee suggests certain modifications, notably a reduction of the time consumed in bringing a dispute to conciliation or arbitration, which should shorten the period of tension and make for better feeling all around. Some of the other changes proposed indicate an attempt to compromise. For instance there is the suggestion that secret strike ballots should be under labor relations board scrutiny instead of supervision. There is nothing undemocratic about government supervision, and it is hard to understand labor's intense dislike of the principle; but if the modification now proposed would make the unions happier it might be worth a trial.

The committee's recommendations are many and varied, and should have careful study before anything is done about them. Despite labor's insistence that the act should be revised at this session, the government is taking the fair and prudent course in holding the report over until after the general election.

"Some trouble in some place called Korea?"

Is Mr. Winch Afraid?

MR. HAROLD WINCH is merely being factious when he says the single transferable vote system is akin to Fascism and Nazism. He knows perfectly well it is nothing of the kind, that a Nazi ballot confined the voter to one choice and one only, where at this summer's election British Columbia voters will have their free pick of whatever candidates care to offer themselves.

In opposing the new voting system Mr. Winch is not complimentary to his own party. Apparently he fears its result on the fortunes of the C.C.F. That must mean he does not think there will be many B.C. voters who would make C.C.F. candidates even their second, third or fourth choice. He therefore cannot have a high opinion of the party he leads, or of its worth as a vote-getter.

No doubt there will be a number of spoiled ballots. No system is proof against the obtuseness of some electors, although any normal intelligence should be able to cope with the single transferable vote without undue mental strain.

Mr. Winch's reference to some returning officers who did not understand the old system, let alone a new one, however, raises a worthwhile point. Anyone so dull of wit as all that is wrongly cast as a voting supervisor, and in past elections some returning officers undobtedly fell into this category. The reason is not far to seek. All returning officers are not selected on the basis of intelligence. Too many are handed this job through political favoritism without their having the slightest qualification for the duties involved.

It is perhaps too much to expect that the Liberal political machine will make fitness for the task the only criterion this summer, as it should be, although if it does not it will give Mr. Winch more cause for complaint than ever.

Service Centre Needed

EXPERIENCE in two wars and in between has shown that there is a substantial need of a service centre for the Greater Victoria area, a place where men in uniform can go when off duty to find some elements of comfort and fraternity removed from a barrack-room atmosphere. For men, away from their homes and on duty for this nation, it is a deadening thing to wander hour after hour through the streets with no alternative but a motion picture theatre or a restaurant, and so round and round again. It is lack of some suitable provision where they can secure ordinary club comforts that turns many an individual into channels which make for trouble for themselves and for the community.

One serviceman writing to The Colonist on this subject epitomizes this feeling when he states: "We need a service centre badly, where we can stay off the streets and enjoy ourselves . . . What decent entertainment is there for us? Any time a serviceman tries to make his own entertainment he is immediately looked down upon . . ." There it is in a nutshell. The lack is there, and it will remain unsupplied until practical steps are taken to fill it. What Prince Robert House once provided under the management of the Navy League is needed now on a much more comprehensive scale for all three armed services combined. No lad in uniform for his country should have to walk the streets as a stranger, with nowhere to go and nothing to do in this, a garrison town.

THE MISSING WIRE

Sir,—Are we not going to hear from the Premier why he did not reveal the contents of the wire he received from Mr. Anscomb to his Liberal members and particularly to his cabinet before he chose to split the Coalition and now forces an election on the taxpayers, which Mr. Anscomb tells us in his speech will cost us over half a million dollars.

We certainly should demand of Mr. Johnson an explanation.

BETH M. COWEN.

PRICE WAGE SPIRAL

Sir,—In 1939 the basic wage for carpenters was 75c per hour. Calculated on the present cost of living index, the carpenters' wage should now be about $1.50 per hour. On that basis carpenters are not underpaid; indeed one must conclude that many are getting more than they are worth.

I challenge any recognized leader of the carpenters' union to give any valid reason why 75c increase should now be awarded. The proposed wage scale would then show an increase from 1939 of 233⅓% against 100% rise in living costs. As it is the public that always pays the piper, the public is vitally interested in this matter.

Here is a little sum in arithmetic for Mr. Midgley to show him that labor costs do play a very definite part in slowing down house construction:

In 1939 had I employed four carpenters for 12½ days I should have paid $300 in wages; but, were I to employ four carpenters for 12½ days under the proposed scale, I should have to fork out $1,000. That is highway robbery, 1952 version.

PRICE WAGE SPIRAL

Sir,—In reply to a letter of Feb. 21 by Mrs. L. F. Heywood, in which she blames the high cost of everything on the continual raise in wages.

I would like to respectfully point out that in a great many cases the cost to the consumer preceded the wage raise.

Lumber for instance was pretty well out of reach of the average citizen before any demand had been made for a wage raise. The same applies to meat, butter, and many other items. True, the government tax was a partial cause of the higher prices, but only partial.

After the U.S. steel strike, in which the workers won a fifty cents per hour raise, the price of steel jumped almost 100% with a later jump of 50% followed by a later increase. Could one blame the fifty cents wage increase for that?

Retailers' profits in some lines are simply scandalous, as seen by the unbelievable trade-in allowances offered to the public. If these retailers can take the loss and still make a working profit, what were they making in the first place? Is that attributal to wage raises? Can we blame high wages for the hugh profits shown by industry in general?

TOM D. BATESON.

SEABORNE GARBAGE

Sir,—The city public works evidently accepted the fact that garbage washed up on Gonzales Beach was off of the scow, for they sent men down to pick it all up. It is no doubt returned to the scow and so back into the water again. A rather vicious circle, isn't it?

The garbage crusher has cut down the amount of floating tins and bottles. It is only once in a while we get a lot of them on the beach, which then have to be picked up and returned for reburial; but isn't it time that even that once in a while be eliminated altogether by another modern method such as is used in Vancouver?

May I thank the city for sending down its men to re-gather its garbage, and suggest that the public works find out from Vancouver its methods and the cost of same; or let a private firm take over garbage disposal via means of an incinerator or using crushed garbage as a fill where needed.

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I WAS looking at a picture of a horse the other day. I rather like looking at pictures, and judging by the number of illustrated papers on the newsstands so do a lot of other people.

Popular literature of long ago must have been drab, methinks.

There are of course pictures and pictures. Everyone has his favorites; ships and horses are mine. Not that I'm quite so familiar with horses as with ships. I only knew two horses intimately, as a matter of fact, and they both behaved badly. One knocked me down; the other jiggled me up and down so much I was nearly seasick, or its horseback equivalent.

But I bear them no grudge.

It will be the romanticist in me that splurges when I see horses and ships, I daresay. They waft me away on fanciful flights.

This particular horse, now, that I was looking at. It was a coal-black charger, or at least the three parts of it that were visible. The rear section had been cut off, much to the disgust I fancy of the photographer who took the portrait. Press photographers are always being frustrated in this way.

Frozen on the back of the charger was a guardsman, one of those breast-plated chaps you see in Whitehall if you're in London and in rotogravures if you're not. He was a fine looking specimen of a man, but of the two I preferred the horse.

As I gazed at its glossy flank the latter multiplied into Olivier's panoplied horses at Agincourt, and I saw again that memorable scene from "Henry V," perhaps the most striking in an unusual film. The only cavalry charge I ever saw in reality, not at Agincourt, flashed anew before my eyes, and I remembered that as the horses galloped past I was glad they were on our side.

The thin red lines of old that faced such oncoming terrors have my unbounded admiration.

An association of ideas brought in turn remembrance of another movie scene, about the Northwest Mounted Police. Perhaps you will recall it—the inexorable advance of brown bays and red-coated riders into a hostile Indian camp, to get their man. It was one of those brief moments, all too few, that exalt a motion picture film.

Incidentally, if you haven't seen the Mounties in their famous musical ride you have missed a treat.

If I had the wit I would talk of the poetry of motion when horses step and prance, but being banal minded I'll say merely that they always look pretty to me.

Yes, even when printed in only three-quarter length.

A whole new world—not entirely brave, either, has arisen since horses charged into battle or Indian camps, but these noble steeds have nevertheless left a permanent mark. Horsepower is still the criterion, even of the vehicles that have displaced him.

Power! There you have the virtue the horse gave to men; whether they sat on his back or hitched his shoulders to a load.

Ah well, praise be, you can still see the odd horse on Douglas Street, and maybe he will always be with us.

A fine animal, is the horse, whether on the race track, another equestrian study altogether—on parade in Whitehall, browsing on a Saanich farm, or frozen to immobility by a camera. I think I shall keep that picture I was looking at.

Reports From Ottawa

THE nation's 77,000 temporary government employees will be brought under the provisions of the civil service superannuation act this year, but parliament won't be acting entirely altruistically.

In the civil service there are two categories of employees. There are the permanents, 51,000 of them, who contribute to a fund which enables them to retire on pension at 65. And there are the 77,000 temporaries, who are barred from participating in the pension plan.

The pension qualification is the only real difference between them. Both permanents and temporaries do the same kind of work for comparable salaries. Most of the temporaries were taken on during the war, although the service of some stretches back 28 years. Most of them are in the departments of defense and defense production. Fifteen thousand are in Ottawa, and the other 62,000 in government offices scattered from coast to coast.

For years they have agitated unsuccessfully for amendment of the superannuation act so they could make organized and planned provision for their old age. Successive governments have refused to do more than set up a contributory retirement fund to provide the temporaries with nest eggs against the time when they would be fired because the government didn't need their services any longer.

When the government's bill to bring the temporaries under the superannuation act is introduced in parliament, it will be explained as a further step in the Liberals' welfare program.

However, I am informed that the real reason for the government's change of heart is that a group of Quebec M.P.'s have convinced Prime Minister St. Laurent that parliament should establish a pension plan for its own members, like that in effect in New Zealand.

They argue, and with considerable justification, that the country should make some financial provision for M.P.'s who have served 10 years or more in parliament, in view of the financial sacrifice that service in parliament usually entails.

Not infrequently M.P.'s who have devoted years to parliament to the exclusion of their professions have suffered financial hardships on being defeated at the polls. And after a hiatus of 10 or more years, it isn't easy to pick up the practice of a profession again.

Thus at least some M.P.'s want a pension plan. But the sponsors of the present move realized they'd be criticized if they provided pensions for themselves out of the public pocket while ignoring the plight of the temporary government employees. So the latter will get their pensions first.

PRIME Minister St. Laurent's appointment of George McIlraith Lib., Ottawa West) to represent Canada at the Colombo Plan committee meeting in Karachi, Pakistan, is an obvious sop.

Early this month McIlraith quit as parliamentary assistant to Production Minister Howe, ostensibly to give himself more time to practice law. But the real reason for his resignation was his dissatisfaction at having been consistently overlooked when the P.M. made appointments to the cabinet.

The designation followed Howe's personal and unsuccessful intercession on McIlraith's behalf. Howe left the P.M.'s office with a face black as a thundercloud after St. Laurent had told Howe that there was "nothing at all in sight for Mr. McIlraith".

Apparently taken aback by McIlraith's subsequent resignation, the P.M. had another look at his "positions vacant" file, and decided the Ottawa M.P. was just the man to send to Karachi.

McIlraith's acceptance makes it amply clear that he's still looking for a cabinet job, not a law practice.

Silly Nonsense

(From The Ottawa Journal)

A NEWS story sent out from Ottawa declares that in 1951 "Canadians went on a buying splurge," spent a billion dollars more in Canadian retail stores than they spent in 1950.

Splurge indeed! Most Canadians last year were having enough trouble keeping essential expenditures at inflated prices within the framework of income, utterly lacked the means, even if they had the inclination, for any sort of splurging.

That is proved by the story itself, when it tells us that "all types of stores made advances with the exception of electric appliance and radio dealers, furniture dealers and jewelers". The increase was not in luxury goods, or in goods that came under the government's rigid credit restrictions, but in food and clothing, the necessities.

The government tries to console us for the monstrous taxes we pay by assuring us that high taxes are a weapon against inflation, meaning that if the government left us with more money in our pockets the demand for goods would rise and prices would be forced still higher. This is grossly unfair to the people, the taxpayers, who all through this painful period have shown an admirable restraint in their purchasing, whether or not it was forced upon them by the delicate balance between income and expenditures.

Most Canadian families would laugh, though not with any real merriment, at the suggestion that they had gone on a buying spree last year. They would call it, and rightly, silly nonsense.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

BEING obliged to move from a house in which we had lived for 15 years, every member of my family was appalled at the enormous collection of personal junk that each of us had acquired with the passage of time. Bureaus, dressers, closets were packed and stuffed with incredible accumulations not merely of clothing but of trinkets, gimmicks, gadgets that afforded no clue as to why they have been kept. The men are worse pack rats than the women: books stacked and piled all over the likely places and the unlikely places; tools, tackle, gear; boxes half full of meaningless junk; piles of dusty magazines hidden away from the cleansing hand of women; furniture down cellar; half hidden by carefully hoarded boards.

Moving day is a gala one for the veterans' salvage outfits and the Salvation Army. The question arises: what happens, in the end, to all these thousands of tons of trivial private property that men and women accumulate over their years? There are not enough secondhand stores in any city or town to handle a fraction of it. When death winds up a family, and the old house is broken up, only a small portion of the furniture, books, ornaments, pictures, china, trinkets, is accepted by the relatives and friends. The junkmen come in and take away barrels and barrels of it, for a song.

None of it is wasted. It all goes somewhere. In the junk world, there is a great clearing house system, starting at the top with the antique shops and ranging down through repair shops, restoring shops, through the second-hand stores to the warehouses where they bale up rags and paper.

Gaze about you in the warm privacy of your own home; look tenderly on your precious possessions, your favorite chair, your pet picture, your best-beloved vase or silver tray. You can die. But they won't. Some utter stranger, maybe 2,000 miles from here, will have them for a bargain, by and by.

Libel Laws

By RAYMOND MOLEY

From New York

A LABOR member of parliament, S. H. Lever, in co-operation with the Conservative attorney-general, is steering through the House of Commons a very important bill to amend the British law of libel. The general effect of this amendment would be to ease the restraints and fears that have always hampered the proper critical activities of British newspaper proprietors, journalists, and authors.

For those American readers who are accustomed to the irresponsibility and reckless disregard of the truth that occasionally appears in this country, it should be made clear that such things rarely happen in Britain. The law of libel there is much stricter than it is here.

The application of libel law here is hampered by procedural liberties that are allowed a defendant. If Jones sues Smith for something the latter has written, he can bring all sorts of derogatory material into the record against the plaintiff. The fact is that the plaintiff becomes the defendant against all sorts of irrelevancy. Hence, injured people hesitate to sue at all because they dread the consequences of a thorough smearing of themselves.

There is much less of this in British courts.

Injured people, however, hesitate in Britain to bring suit unless they are quite sure that they have a good case, because if they lose, they must sustain the costs of the defense as well as their own. The late Harold Laski in 1945 sued a small newspaper in Nottingham for what he claimed was a false account of something he said in a campaign speech. The Beaverbrook papers had copied the Nottingham paper's account, and so Laski found himself confronted by the great resources of that newspaper establishment. A long suit took place and Laski lost. He found himself saddled with £10,000 of costs.

The new amendments in the Lever bill would go a long way to free newspapers and other publications and radio from the difficulties they now face in making fair and wholesome criticism.

First, the new bill provides that when defamatory comment has been unintentional, the person or institution that made it may escape penalty by a correction and apology.

Second, if a defendant proves that the general import of his criticism was correct, he cannot be successfully sued or prosecuted if some minor facts in his comment were in error.

Third, defamatory comment on the radio and presumably on television is classed as libel rather than slander.

Finally, newspapers and other agencies are given a clearer definition of utterances that are "privileged" or not.

The newspaper reader is often unaware of the difficult problem faced by an editor or writer in steering his course between what is of public interest and the personal right to privacy. There are some who interpret the public interest so broadly that they permit themselves to dig into the private affairs of public men with scant regard for fairness or right.

People in office have a right to resent this, but generally they cannot afford to sue. On the other hand, matters such as the maintenance of a standard of living far above that indicated by an official salary becomes a matter of public interest. The line of fairness is hard to draw, the law is quite vague, and the danger of injury very great. American states might well overhaul their libel laws as is being done in Britain.

New Scaling System to Aid Lumber and Pulp Industries

A new yardstick expected to mean money in the pocket of B.C.'s lumber and pulp industry —will be used this year by the B.C. Forest Service.

Described as a new method of measuring forest resources, the yardstick, applied through the work of the Dominion laboratory of forest pathology, is designed to provide an

The decadence scaling provides for three classifications: dead trees with average decay of 80 per cent or greater, living trees with scars, conks or broken tops, and living trees free of defects.

The scale is applied to each type of timber.

The net result is a reckoning of the commercial value of a forest area based on the actual potential.

Dr. R. E. Foster, head of the Dominion laboratory here, said yesterday the system had been developed over the past three years and had stood up to tests to date.

An example of the system's use had already been given in the Big Bend country near Revelstoke, he said, where large stands of hemlock had been surveyed at the request of the forest service.

"The information gathered indicated the hemlock—with 70 per cent to a grim 90 per cent defect rating in some areas—was not suitable for saw-lumber operations.

Pulp possibilities were much better, the survey showed, since the hemlock was not too decayed for that product and because a heavy volume of 11-inch down to 6-inch trees usable for pulp was discovered.

Since the survey the Celanese Corporation of America, Columbia Cellulose Division, has applied for a forest management permit in the area.

Potential of northern Vancouver Island's western hemlock and balsam fir will be assessed by the tree decadence system this summer as part of province-wide activities.

Another first this year is the employment of three forest disease ranger "trouble shooters" to investigate reports of blight and disease as they are sent in from various parts of the province.

For example, the new ranger service will make possible checks on such reports as deaths among young firs at Little Qualicum Forest Park which have been puzzling park employees, and an investigation of a mysterious black canker which has attacked western hemlock on Queen Charlotte Islands and is not known to the ranger there.

Any of these things may have a simple explanation—or they may be a threat to the health which the ranger service will help check before losses spread.

Another project on the 1952 program in the fight against costly forest disease is a project to control a root rot which has been attacking second growth Douglas fir on Vancouver Island and the mainland coast.

Source of the rot that topples strong young trees is known, but still a mystery is the reason behind its prevalence in some areas, its non-appearance in others.

If the forest detectives can find what factors contribute to the prevalence of the root rot, it means money saved almost immediately. First step in forest management would be to stop planting in such areas.

Present stage of this battle is about 10 years along the patient road of disease control. The department already has study plots that old, in some of which the disease has checked, in others, spread.

The search, therefore, is partly for another disease, which, it is believed, may counteract root rot.

A mere five years study lies behind efforts against the fatal blister rust disease of white pine, another killer of valuable timber.

Not too important on the coast, the white pine is a top money maker for lumbermen in some parts of the interior and board foot for board foot the province's most valuable lumber.

Despite the non-commercial aspect here, the fight against old blister rust will also centre on Vancouver Island where 20 trees in the Campbell River area thought to be rust resistant will be used in tests.

hogs. Most of these animals were from the Peace River district.

Government and meat-packing firm spokesmen say there should be no increase in meat prices here this week.

NO RAISE YET

One meat distributing firm's manager said the city's supply arrived here yesterday, and there is little likelihood of a price hike for at least a week.

Another packing firm official said that meat prices may go down if Alberta ranchers decide to unload their cattle on the Calgary or Edmonton market.

British Columbia livestock commissioner Dr. W. R. Gunn said supplies might get low if there is panic buying.

"We could get meat from the United States, and it would not necessarily be higher priced than what we have now," he said.

He said that the B.C. Beef Cattle Growers' Association is meeting in Kamloops today to determine just how much meat the province has, and how far it would go.

NO CASE HERE

Dr. Gunn said that meat supplies from the United States would be ample to meet an emergency, if the danger period is not prolonged.

Dr. Gunn said that inspectors of the federal health of animals division of the Department of Agriculture had not yet discovered a case of diseased cattle coming into B.C.

He said the federal and provincial departments had been alerted to the possibility of hoof and mouth disease in prairie cattle at the end of last week.

Every animal shipped into the province since then has been examined, and test material flown to Hull, Quebec, where laboratory procedure establishes whether or not there is a trace of the disease, Dr. Gunn said.

ANTI-SLAVE LEADER

The New England Anti-Slavery Society was founded in 1832 by William Lloyd Garrison, a year before the American society at Philadelphia.

Chamber President Warns Against Machine Worship

A warning against Canada losing its culture by making a god of industry was sounded by Rene R. Perrault, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at a joint meeting of the Gyro Club and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

"We are thinking too little of ethics and religion and too much of business," he said in an address in which he declared that Canada's future was never brighter.

"Canada is undergoing an industrial revolution of an amazing nature" he declared. "Twenty years ago 30 per cent of the people were engaged in agriculture. Today agriculture accounts for only 22 per cent, yet owing to mechanization, production in agriculture has increased tremendously.

The iron ore project at Ungava in Northern Quebec, the discovery of oil in the prairie provinces and the Alcan development at Kitimat were hailed by the chamber president as outstanding factors in the advance of Canada as a world power.

Of B.C. he said, "Western Canada is no country for the laggard. It calls for the man who works till the sweat drops from his brow. But for the real worker it has a bright reward."

Referring to the threat of Communism, Mr. Perrault said, "Canada is the land of hope. But there are forces of evil attempting to enslave us. We should here and now restate our faith in God and our country."

Active Stocks Market Guide

Gains among active stocks yesterday were chiefly in the lower-priced mines and oils. A big price range between 36 cents and 49 cents took place in Eldona, with the stock closing with a net gain of 1½ cents. On Montreal, Quebec Chibougamau up 6 cents at 33 was the most active trader. An active oil to make a big gain was Scurry, up 20 cents.

Industrials were mostly lower, as was the general tendency among New York's most active ten.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG, Feb. 25 (CP).—Prices were lower all across the board today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, influenced by declines on United States markets and the U.S. embargo on Canadian meat.

Buying was fair in the opening stages, with oats and barley receiving shipper support, barley and flax processor buying, and rye American purchases. However, selling increased toward the close when American markets turned lower.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included 600,000 bushels to the United Kingdom and 350,000 to South Africa.

Stock Market Dominated By Eldona

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (CP).—A sharp burst of selling during the final hours erased most earlier stock market gains.

Trading was brisk but one stock, Eldona, accounted for almost one-fifth of the day's turnover.

Constructions, foods and refining oils retained most gains to form industrials' strongest section. Banks also held firm support but utilities, agricultures and retail stores weakened. Papers, steels, textiles and manufacturing companies made little headway.

Western oils held gains and losses in balance as Calgary and Edmonton, Central Explorers, Canada Southern, North Canadian, Pacific Petroleum, Scurry and Western Homestead strengthened.

Base Metals eased as East Sullivan, Fenimore Iron, Noranda, Normetal, Quebec Copper and United Asbestos turned downward. International Nickel, Mindamar and Labrador showed strength.

Senior golds were firm. Secondary issues traded lower.

Aluminium Rally

MONTREAL, Feb. 25 (CP).—Morning firmness faded steadily in the market's late stages and stock prices closed mixed.

Senior oils and steels held a bare majority of gains at the close.

Utilities, beverages, senior metals and miscellaneous industrials mixed plus and minus signs. Papers fell sharply, while banks were off a trifle.

Dominion Bridge jumped 1¾ to 88¾ before falling back a small fraction. Aluminum was up two points at 113 at one time, but closed at 111¾.

Placer development dropped 1½ points to 47¾. St. Lawrence Corporation and International Paper were off one point at 41 and 46½ respectively, the latter a new low.

Mines were narrow and mixed. Ascot, Cassiar Asbestos and Quebec Chibougamau were among advancers. Western oils rallied slightly from early afterno

Sawchuk Shows Vezina Trophy Form

Terry Sawchuk, brilliant goalie of Detroit Red Wings, is cinch to win Vezina Trophy this season and his fine play is one of major factors why his club is making runaway race in N.H.L. Here, Sawchuk slides across goal as Toronto's Joe Klukay bores in, followed by Wing's Red Kelly. Leafs lost, 3-1, to leaders Saturday night.

Next game: Tonight: VICTORIA at

Paced by Walt Atanas and Ed Dorohoy, Victoria Cougars climbed within two points of vacating the P.C.H.L. dungeon last night at Calgary when they outscored the Stampeders, 6-3.

Victory moved last season's champions within eight points [illegible] Canucks and the last playoff spot.

Dorohoy, staying right in the battle to retain his league point title, scored two goals, including the winner, and passed for a third. Atanas found the nets three times, including a scoring shot on an empty goal after Stamps had yanked goalie Russ Dextell for a sixth attack late in the game.

Stampeders enjoyed an edge for much of the game. They rode into a 2-0 lead before the game was 10 minutes old. They were foced to call a halt when coach Hank Blade drew a penalty late in the period and Bob Frampton sliced the margin in two from the resulting power play.

JERRY DOES HIS BIT

Victoria goalie Jerry Cotnoir was the key figure for the first 10 minutes of the second period as he held the pressing Albertans at bay. Then the Cougars came on to score three goals and take the lead. Atanas got his first with a bullet drive, Dorohoy clicked from a face-off, and Atanas made it 4-2 with a screened backhander.

Hill Brown scored at 1.07 of the third period and again at 13.27 to tie it up as the Stamps again went on the attack. But they failed again and Dorohoy broke away to deke Bill Moe and score what proved to be the winner. It was his 24th goal and the 200th of the season for the Cougars.

It was the night's only game. On Sunday, the Seattle Ironmen, fired, apparently, by a change in coaches, upset the league-leading New Westminster Royals, 4-3, at Seattle to practically assure themselves of a playoff spot.

The Ironmen were coached by Danny Sprout, veteran defenseman, who completed an odd cycle when he was elected coach by the players before the game after Tony Hemmerling had tendered his resignation. Hemmerling told owner Frank Dotten he felt he was unable to make the club produce properly.

STRANGE CYCLE

Sprout started last season as playing coach at Seattle, quit in mid-season after differences with Dotten and joined Portland Eagles, who were coached by Hemmerling. Sprout signed again with Seattle this season and fell heir to his former boss' job.

Showing more dash than they have in months, the Ironmen came from behind three times to down Royals. Jim Fairburn scored the tying and winning goals late in the third period.

Heaneys in First Place

Heaneys took over sole possession of first place in the junior division of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association on Sunday by blanking Victoria College Vikings 4-0.

Cowichan Braves' scheduled match against Victoria Combines at Duncan was postponed due to adverse weather conditions.

Vikings were unable to solve the stiff defense of the winners and showed little in scoring punch. Rimmer and Evans picked up goals in the first half and repeated after the break to salt the game awdy.

In a first division contest, Tillicum Athletic Club and Maycock Optical battled to a 0-0 draw. Tillicums played with eight men for the better part of the game but found the Opticals off-color.

Army, Navy and Air Force Vets edged Harris Cycles 1-0 in a second division match. Thornthwaite notched the only goal of the game near the end of the first half with the Vets content to hold the one-goal margin in the second half.

On Saturday James Bay Merchants and Eagles fought to a 2-2 tie in a third division game to retain their lead over the Eagles.

In fourth division play, Mic Mac's and Combine Pee Wee's battled to a 1-1 deadlock. Babington gave Mic Mac's the lead midway through the first half but Combines came back strong in the second half to knot the count.

Eagles ran their unbeaten unscored upon streak to nine straight games when they trounced St. Louis College 8-0 in Division V play at Brooke Street park.

Team of Nine Named for B.C. Gloves--Island Event Nets Association $824

Officials of the Greater Victoria Boxing Association last night named a team of nine boxers to represent the association in the B.C. Golden Gloves championships at Vancouver, March 7 and 8.

Heading the Victoria team is Lloyd Tahouney, clever Vancouver Island gloves bantamweight champion who was named "Golden Boy" at the Island Golden Gloves held here last Saturday, and Bert Wilkinson, Island middleweight champion, who will fight in the new light - middleweight class at Vancouver.

Others named to the team are: Bobby Thompson, Island flyweight king; Paul Calvey, who fought as a bantamweight in the Island Gloves and won runner-up honors and the Optimist Club Golden Boy Trophy for being named the "Best Sportsman"; Bantamweight Fred Curtis, who was judged "best prospect" in the Island show; Earl Vance, Island lightweight runner-up; Ernie Calvey, who will fight as a lightwelter, and Ronnie Joe, Island welterweight titleholder.

Thompson, Calvey, Curtis and Wilkinson are from Nick Lyster's Esquimalt Club, Tahouney from the James Bay Boxing Club, Vance and Joe from the Police Boxing Club, and Calvery and Paul from the St. Louis College Boxing Club.

The association also selected Lystar and Ed Duffin, St. Louis College, as co-coaches of the Victoria team. Lystar and Duffin will train the team until the Vancouver show and handle the boys at ringside.

Permission has been received for use of the police club gym and nightly workouts will start tonight at 7.30. Lystar announced that workouts at his Esquimalt club will be discontinued until after the B.C. Golden Gloves.

Officials also announced that the Island Gloves was a financial success, netting $824 on a gross of approximately $1,250. A complete financial statement will be published in the near future. The net, less five per cent for the Queen Alexandra Solarium, will go to the association and member clubs.

Amount to be received by the Solarium will amount to about $119, including approximately $78 proceeds from sale of programs.

Agar Holds Slight Edge In Three-Way Point Race

Unofficial P.C.H.L. scoring statistics, including last night's game at Calgary, show George Agar, veteran Calgary forward, holding a four-point lead but engaged in a three-way fight with defending champion Ed Dorohoy of Victoria and New Westminster's Gordie Fashoway.

Agar picked up a goal last night but lost two points to Dorohoy, who scored twice and passed for a third goal to tie Fashoway. The latter scored twice at Seattle Sunday night.

Fashoway leads in goals with 45, only eight shy of the league record, and Dorohoy is tops in assists with 49, 18 off the league high.

Victoria coach Roger Leger tops the defensemen with 51 points, four more than Seattle coach Danny Sprout.

The high scoring prevalent this season is reflected by the fact that 16 players already have 60 points or more and 11 others are over 50. Seven players have scored 30 goals or more and close to 40 are over the 20-goal figure which used to be the standard of goal-scoring ability.

Colonist Cup Play Opens, Vic High XI Scores Win

By IAN GLENDAY

Victoria High School's rep soccer squad made its first start of the season an impressive one at the Fernwood grounds yesterday when they edged Esquimalt High School 2-1 in the opening game of Colonist Cup league play.

The trophy, which marks inter-high school soccer supremacy, is currently held by Oak Bay High, but on the basis of their performance yesterday, the city students will be a serious threat for the silverware. At the conclusion of the schedule, the top two teams will play a best-of-three series to determine the holder of the trophy.

Although weather conditions hampered play, both teams turned in a good brand of soccer and gave every indication that the calibre of play will improve as the season progresses.

Play was fairly even in the first half with both squads missing several golden scoring opportunities. Gerry Harris gave Esquimalt the lead with less than a minute remaining in the first half when his hard shot deflected off a Vic. High defender and gave goalie Ronnie Lou Poy no chance.

After the break, Vic. High grabbed the initiative and were rewarded after a minute when Dick Willoughby converted a pass from Jim Harrison for the tying marker. With less than five minutes left, Willoughby banged in his second goal when he took a perfect pass from Arnold Mason and gave the Esquimalt goalie little chance.

George Wright, Ray Fairless and Gerry Harris were the pick of the visitors while Herb Wetherall, Ian Holroyd and Harrison turned in brilliant games for Vic. High.

The scheduled game between Mount Douglas and Oak Bay was canceled due to adverse weather conditions.

Oak Bay Trip Successful

By BRIAN SMITH

Oak Bay High School staged a friendly invasion of Langley Prairie over the week end, and brought home a pair of overwhelming victories, swamping the Langley High rugby team, 25-0, and defeating the basketball squad, 56-16.

Oak Bay's long-idle fifteen piled up a 14-0 lead by half time on the strength of an effective three-line, which continued to break through in the final frame for eleven additional points.

Accounting for the winners' sizeable margin were Bob Cross, with two tries and a conversion, Ron Hurley and Gerry Rovers, with two tries each, and Derry Simpson with a try and a conversion.

In the basketball contest, Oak Bay's rep squad utilized its height and fast-break ability to rack up a 10-2 first-quarter lead. Bays led 24-11 at the half time whistle and went on a scoring spree in the final two cantos for 32 points while Langley could manage but five.

Frank Lewis counted 18 points from the bucket to lead scorers of both teams.

Accompanying the 26 athletes on their invasion were staff members J. Wallace, D. Oliver and E. Costain.

Oak Bay lineups:

Basketball: Frank Lewis 18, Laurie Veitch 10, Jim Mitchell 4, Christie Smith 6, Brian Smith 3, Ken Barnes 12, Monty Little 1, Brian Priestly, Colin Creighton 2. Total 56.

West and Heaneys meet in one semi-final Sunday, while Duncan and Civil Service tangle in a first-round match Saturday to decide the fourth semi-finalist.

Gordie Duncan scored alone at 10 minutes and converted a pass from Alf Jenkins 25 minutes later to give Esquimalt a 2-0 lead. Bill Walker made it 3-0 at half-time.

Alcos came back fast after the intermission and Jack Thompson and Bill Parry scored within 20 minutes to make it interesting. Hard-pressed, Esquimalt clinched it when Nip Sage scored eight minutes from time. Walker took Alex Stewart's pass to complete the scoring just before time.

OSLO, Feb. 25 (CP)—The sixth winter Olympic Games closed tonight in flood-lit ceremonies on the slippery ice of Bislett Stadium.

As Norwegian Royalty watched, the flags of the 30 countries which sent 1,178 athletes to the games were carried out of the stadium and the Olympic flame died away.

Outstanding individual male star on the games that began Feb. 14 was Hjalmar Andersen of Norway, who won three speed-skating titles. Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence of Rutland, Vt., won two gold medals in the women's skiing events.

Canada in hockey and Dick Button Englewood, N.J., in the men's figure-skating were the only repeating champions.

MEDALS PRESENTED

Tonight's solemn ceremonies began with awarding of medals for the final events of the games.

Flags of all competing countries were brought into the stadium but there was no march by the teams as in the opening ceremony. Many of the athletes had already left for their homes or for exhibition tours.

On the three poles at the end of the stadium were raised, in order, the Greek flag in tribute to the Olympic origin of the games, the Norwegian flag as host country, and the Italian flag in recognition of the fact the 1956 winter games will be held in Cortina D'Ampezza.

Just for two hockey games, action was all over on Sunday with Canada's Edmonton Mercurys and Norway's Arnfinn Bergmann sharing the spotlight.

Canada, as expected, won the hockey championship and Bergmann, a mining engineer from Revelstoke, B.C., won the ski jumping title for his native Norway.

CROWD CHEERS BERGMANN

Cheered on by a huge crowd of 150,000, including King Haakon, massed around towering Holmenkollen Hill, Bergmann received thunderous applause for two near-perfect jumps. His point total, based on style as well as distance, was 226, giving him a decided edge over fellow-countrymen Torbjoern Falkanger, who returned home from the University of Washington to compete. Bergmann's jumps were 68 metres, 223 feet, one and a quarter inches and 67.5 metres.

Bergmann's ski-jump championship climaxed a resounding team triumph for Norway. The host team finished far out in front with 125½ points, 36 more than the runner-up United States.

Sweden's Karl Hemstrom finished third in the ski jump, followed by Finland's Arnfinn Kallakorpi and Tony Brutscher, Germany. Canadian entrants didn't fare too well. Jacques Charland, 21-year-old from Three Rivers, made leaps of over 200 feet on both his jumps but finished 25th with a point total of 190 feet. Laferte, Charland's coach and fellow-townsman, leaped 200 and 194 feet but his form was not rated too good and he placed 41st with 162.5 points.

Bergmann, who left Norway two years ago for the United States and later moved to Revelstoke, where he obtained a job as mining engineer and married a B.C. beauty, last night refuted reports from Revelstoke that he was anxious to represent Canada in the games and would definitely make Revelstoke his future home.

"I like it in Canada," he said, "but Norway is my home and I like it better here. But it all depends on the future. If I get a good job in Canada I'll probably stay there with my family."

Before leaving for Norway in October to practise for the games, Bergmann had started formalities to becoming a Canadian citizen.

Norway, with seven, led all other countries in the number of championships won at the sixth Winter Olympic Games. The United States followed with four.

Harrison in Dutch Over Income Taxes

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 25 (AP)—The State of Arkansas today attached two race horses owned by golf pro E. J. (Dutch) Harrison in an effort to collect back income taxes.

O. T. Ward, attorney for the state revenue department, said Harrison, now playing out of the Ardmore, Okla., Country Club, owes $1,150 in state income taxes for 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949.

Ward said Harrison still maintains a home in Little [illegible] his home state in filing federal income tax returns.

Harrison's horses, Bo-Co and Calico Sis, are quartered at Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs.

*Sweden and Czechoslovakia, tied for third place after regular series with 12 points each, will resolve 3rd spot differential balance for goals against and goals scored and the playoff 5-1 at the same time Canada and the European championship played concurrently with the Olympic Games.

OSLO, Feb. 25 (CP)—Edmonton Mercurys gave Canada her only victory in the 1952 winter Olympic Games here Sunday by winning the hockey championship with a 3-3 draw with the United States team.

The tie gave Canada 15 points, on seven wins and a tie, and left her two points ahead of the Americans, who could have forced a tie by upsetting the Mercurys.

In other games Sunday, Czechoslovakia downed Sweden, 4-0, and Germany lost to Switzerland, 6-3. The Czech triumph forced a play-off with Sweden for third place and the European championship. The Swedes turned the tables today, scoring a 5-3 win in the play-off.

Poland won its only point in the games in a second hockey game today, downing winless Norway, 4-3, to finish in sixth place.

Mercurys' victory, fifth for Canada in six Olympic hockey championships, left Canada with 18½ points, enough for 10th place in the unofficial Olympic point standings.

It looked for a while Sunday as if Mercurys were going to sweep through the tournament undefeated. They outplayed the Americans all the way and jumped into an early 2-0 lead before a crowd of 10,000 cheering spectators, who failed to see any of the expected fireworks between the two teams labeled "rowdies" for their rugged style of play. There was some heavy body-checking but neither team took any chances on penalties in the important game.

Bill Dawe opened the scoring late in the first period and Ken Secco made it 2-0 only 16 seconds later.

The stubborn Americans, although outshot, 58-13, cut the margin in the second period. Less than two minutes later, a break caught the Canadians flat-footed and it was a 2-2 tie.

Mercurys took control again and Jack Davies made it 3-2 in the last minute of the second period. The Yanks, however, tied it up with just over two minutes left when their desperate power plays finally paid off.

Uplands Pair Unable to End Button Streak

Shooting exceptional golf on their home course, Bob Fleming and John Merriman, Gorge Vale, Sunday, made their ninth successive defense of the city golf buttons by trouncing the veteran Upland combine of Gordon Verley and Don Gowan, 4 and 3.

Winners had a six-under-par best ball of 66 with Gowan and Verley also in fine form to record a best ball of 70. Fleming was in particularly good form, shooting six birdies for the 18 holes, completing the round for his score in the monthly medal competition.

Fleming tied with Colwood's Bill McColl for low gross honors in medal play. Each had par 72's. Vic Painter and Reg Hoadley finished in a tie for low net award with 70's.

Final 18 holes in the first round of medal competition will be played at the Victoria Golf Club Sunday. Fleming, Painter and Bob Morrison are tied at the end of 54 holes with 146's.

Seven Records Toppled In Swim Meet

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25. Four Canadian and three Northwest marks were broken in the junior Northwest swimming championships here Saturday.

Teddy Simpson, 15, of Vancouver, smashed both Canadian men's junior and senior 440-yard backstroke marks when he swam the distance in 5:41. The former records were: 5:58 for the senior and 5:58.2 for the junior.

Bobby Gair, 15, also of Vancouver, clipped eight seconds off the Canadian junior 220-yard breast stroke mark, finishing in 2:53.2.

Beverly Graham, 15, of Portland, smashed three Northwest girls records, being clocked in 28.8 seconds for the 50-yard free style, 1.05 for the 100-yard free style and 2.24.7 for the 200-yard free style. Former marks were: 30.1, 1.09.1 and 2.36.8, respectively.

Dorothy Cook of Vancouver, set a new Canadian junior girls record for the 150-yard medley with a clocking of 1.59. The former mark was 2.04.1.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Here's a back view of a player making a long shot with wood. Notice that his weight is forward so that he is able to swing down strongly, accurately. Notice that his left shoulder is rising rather perpendicularly thus permitting his right shoulder to pivot under his chin while he keeps his eyes fixed on the ball and his head fixed both in the horizontal and vertical planes. At impact, as pictured, notice that his hips and shoulders are both almost parallel with the line of flight. But the left hip pivot back away from the line just a trifle, taking the body out of the way for a full, smooth, follow-through. And notice the player's feet are well anchored to the ground so that he is in no danger of losing his balance and thus—spoiling—his shot, as he pours clubhead power into the ball.

24-page book condensation of the Canadian saga "Grass Beyond the Mountains"

Only 17 years ago, two Wyoming cowboys rode north into British Columbia and staked claim to a vast cattle range never before seen by white men.

In March Reader's Digest is Richmond Hobson's dramatic first-hand account of their struggle against the wilderness, of pioneer dangers lit by the neighborliness and humor of frontier life.

Says the Christian Science Monitor of this book: "Grass Beyond the Mountains is a true story of all-conquering imagination, daring and work."

Games Lose $1,540,000, Norway Figures Benefits

OSLO (AP)—The city of Oslo estimates cheerfully it will take a $1,540,000 beating for its pains in staging the sixth Winter Olympic Games.

Arnljot Eng, secretary of the city financial department, said that's all right with Oslo.

He explained to a reporter the Norwegian capital will get its money's worth in two ways: World publicity and the future use of the big sports installations built for the games.

Then, too, there is the money spent in Oslo shops and hotels by the big influx of visitors. There is no firm estimate on that amount yet, but Norway is still fighting its way back from the lean years of the war and can use all the foreign currency it can get.

Eng said the city will be around 11,000,000 kroner ($1,540,000) in the hole when the games are over.

It spent 15,000,000 kroner ($2,100,000) on preparations and expects to get back about 4,000,000 kroner ($560,000) mainly profits on ticket sales for the various events. Looking at the sunny side, Eng said in an interview:

"By putting on these games Oslo has established itself as one of the world's big winter sports centres.

"The actual deficit, we reckon, will be paid back in a matter of years by continued use of the facilities we built for the games.

"We now have a new ice hockey rink Jordal Amfi. We've got a modernized Bislett Stadium, the Holmenkollen ski jumping hill which will draw thousands in future years, and a ski centre at Norefjell which will attract foreign tourists with hard currency."

Cubs Blanked

Royals blanked Cubs, 5-0, behind the shut-out goaltending of Johnny Gittens in a midget division game of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association at Memorial Arena Saturday.

B. Turnbull scored twice and W. Harris, B. Nicholson and B. Hunt each counted once for the winners.

A midget all-star practice will be held between 7 and 8 a.m. Tuesday while the next league game will pit Senators against Bruins at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Houston Meet Won by Burke

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 25 (AP)—Jack Burke, Jr., calmly sank a 12-foot putt on the 18th hole yesterday for an even par 72, to win the $10,000 Houston Open golf tournament.

His 72-hole total of 277 was 11 under par and six strokes better than his nearest rival, amateur Frank Stranahan with a 283. Burke won $2,000 first money.

Three pros shared second money: Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas; Ed Oliver, and John Barnum. They tied at 285, a stroke better than Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans.

LADIES LIKE INDIVIDUAL "DRIVE-IN"

When dry cleaning service comes to your car door, that's something . . . and for Mrs. Loran Ferriday it spells real convenience as Mrs. Elsie Pugh, Individual "Drive-In" attendant, takes her order at the curb. In common with scores of Victoria women Mrs. Ferriday has come to rely on Individual "Drive-In" dry cleaning service. It makes it so simple. The sweeping driveway leads in from Vancouver at Fort. The customer drives up under the canopy and before the motor is switched off an attendant is there, ready to take clothes to be cleaned, or, if it's an order to be picked up, to take the ticket and retrieve the cleaned items. You don't even have to leave the driver's seat. It's so easy for "Hubby" to drop an order in at Individual "Drive-In" too. He can do it on the way to work, any time after eight a.m. Then he can pick up the clothes, perfectly finished, on his return in the evening. No wonder so many Victorians "Drive-In" for Individual Dry Cleaning Service.

Papa doesn't pay me anymore!

Your first job! You're learning your own money, so every penny counts. And because you're a wise young lady, you'll be opening a Savings Account at your branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce right away.

We're expecting you, and we have a welcome present ready. It's a handy purse-size booklet called "It's Simple When You Know How" . . . filled with helpful tips on day to day banking. It was written especially for you.

EATON'S

Spring's Suit Story

Above all else, suits are feminine, gentle in mood. Jackets are newly short and softened with rounded shoulders, nipped-in waists, self details or jewellery trim, cardigan collars or little lapels. Skirts move with grace . . . have a modest flare, a back fullness with a slim front, or a slender line with walking ease . . . look newest when they're a burst of pleats. Fabrics are delicately textured, patterned and coloured . . . in our spring suit collections.

WHERE IN THE WORLD

DID ANDREW JACKSON GET THE NICKNAME "OLD HICKORY"

Captain William Allen, a close neighbor of General Jackson and a constant companion during the Creek War, once gave this interesting account of how the general received his famous title. During the campaign, the soldiers moved rapidly to take the Indians by surprise, were without tents. A cold rain mixed with sleet started [illegible] and although General Jackson came down with a bad cold he had to [illegible] a muddy trench with his nearly frozen men. Noting Jackson's discomfort, Captain Allen and his brother proceeded to cut down a large hickory tree, stripped off the bark and made a covering for the general, who was with difficulty persuaded to crawl under it. Next morning, a drunk entered the camp and, spying the crude tent, gave it a kick. When Jackson crawled angrily from the tent, the tipster drawled, "Hello, Old Hickory! Git out of your bark [illegible]

City Plant to Manufacture New Type Plastic Windows

A plant, employing more than 300 persons, to manufacture new-type plastic windows is being planned by a Victoria man.

J. H. Michaud, president of Insulite Products (B.C.) Ltd., said yesterday he has rented the former Brackman-Ker grain warehouse in the 2200 block Douglas and expects to be in production shortly.

He said he hopes to ship huge quantities of his patented windows to South America and Mexico, and already has a backlog of orders from Ontario.

Mr. Michaud's window, which he invented while ill in a city hospital, consists of two sheets of an Eastman Kodak Co. plastic material called Kodapak, treated with a patented light green or blue dye.

AIR POCKET

He said the window, which contains a three-quarter-inch air pocket space, keeps out 98 per cent of the sun's heat and cuts fading of furniture and drapes to a minimum.

The windows, he said, can be rolled up in a tube to reduce shipping costs.

Distribution and sales rights in B.C. have been given to the Ben Webb Roofing and Insulation Company, which has been making the window now for two years.

Frames for the windows will be made of lumber supplied by a city firm.

Dealers will assemble the parts of the window for distribution.

Family Allowance Reaches New High

NUMBER of family allowance-eligible children in British Columbia reached an all-time high of 327,920 in February.

W. R. Bone, regional director of the federal family allowance bureau, said yesterday that $1,963,551 was paid out to 166,281 households during the month.

Movement of families from other provinces to B.C. continued, he said, with 455 families entering, and 267 leaving.

Wismer Claimed Opposed To Coroners Act Setup

NANAIMO, Feb. 25.—Appointment of a chief coroner for B.C. and setting up of machinery to secure more uniformity in the treatment of all cases coming before such tribunals, is contemplated by Attorney-General Gordon Wismer.

However, it is unlikely the steps will be taken at the present session. Mr. Wismer so informed the South Vancouver Island Women's Institute which had interviewed him regarding their protest last fall against alleged conduct of a coroner's inquest at Duncan into the highway death of Michael Chester, son of one of the institute members.

Interviewing the attorney-general were Mrs. Robert Wallace, Cedar, president of the district board; Mrs. Jack Young, Koksilah, of the Mill Bay Institute, and Mrs. G. F. Moody, Brentwood, vice-president of the board.

The delegates reported the attorney-general as dissatisfied with the set-up under the present Coroner's Act.

He said, however, the deputy attorney-general had reported the Duncan inquest as properly conducted. Mr. Wismer told the delegates he did not feel, short of an inquisition into the whole matter, there would be any point in further dealing with the particular incident.

Last fall, the institute passed a resolution dealing with coroner's juries as the outcome of dissatisfaction over the Chester inquest.

Expenses Wrangle Dropped

Wrangle over payment of $250 to the city manager for expenses incurred on a recent eastern trip finally came to an end yesterday when finance committee voted to "let it lie."

Last year's finance committee voted to pay city manager Cecil Wyatt the money after he had obtained a firm bid on a $439,000 debenture issue while he was in the east on the occasion of his mother's death.

Mayor Claude Harrison recently blocked payment of the "bonus" on the grounds that it was illegal for a committee to authorize payment of anything over $50.

"It was a legal slip," said Ald. William Pinfold. He pointed out that as authorization of the manager's negotiations in the east and payment of the money never got to council, there was nothing the present committee could do.

Mr. Wyatt himself said yesterday he preferred that the matter "be dropped."

City Grant To Scouts Considered

The question of a city grant to the Victoria Boy Scouts Association will be turned over to council along with other similar requests for a general policy.

The decision followed the appearance before the committee yesterday of a two-man delegation requesting the grant of $450 to the association.

Mayor Claude Harrison, Alderman King and secretary A. R. White explained that other municipalities had helped the association by granting halls or absorbing taxes.

"It's small cost for keeping 500 boys out of police court," said Mr. King.

The delegation was advised that the request would have to be considered by council when it studied the 1952 estimates.

Save Your Breath, Dad, Baby's Not Listening

Now it's adults that should be seen and not heard.

Otherwise they're wasting about three-quarters of their breath, when talking to nursery age children.

Patricia Atwood, supervisor of the Victoria Nursery School, told an Art Centre audience the aim is to teach the youngsters gradually to meet and adjust to the fact there are others who must be considered.

To achieve this result in home and school, she said, emphasis should be placed on "a regular routine, secure social atmosphere and not too much talking."

"The child not consciously hears about 25 per cent," she said.

The lecture on the emotional side of children was the second in a series on nursery school development.

Third and last lecture—on intellectual development—will be given by Miss Violet Ashdown, former supervisor of the Victoria Nursery School, at 8 p.m., Feb. 27, in the Art Centre.

Women Form Group

A new association for women employees of the civil service was formed in Esquimalt last night.

The group will be known as the Esquimalt Naval Employees' Association, Women's Division, and is affiliated with the Civil Servants of Canada.

Jack Carey and Gerald Sammon, members of the district council of the civil servants, were active in forming the new association.

At the first meeting last night, in the Boilermakers' Hall, Esquimalt Road, 14 of the 25 women workers affected by the new association, attended.

Elected were Mrs. G. E. Simpson, president; Mrs. Ellen Hope, vice-president; Mrs. M. Sharp, secretary-treasurer, and Belinda Standerwick, representative to the district council of civil servants.

Mrs. Isobel Brooks and Mrs. Edna Esterly were appointed to the executive.

City Approves Giant Share Of School Cost

City council finance committee yesterday went on record as approving the Victoria share of the 1952 Greater Victoria school costs, $101,000 more than those of last year.

"As much as I hate to say it, there's nothing we can do about it," said Ald. Waldo Skillings.

The school estimates were referred to the executive committee with a recommendation that the city share, he said.

Defense Group Sees Film, Hears Talk

Members of the Cedar Hill Civil Defense Committee were shown two civil defense films at a meeting last night and heard several addresses from prominent officials.

Chief guest speaker was Greater Victoria Civil Defense Co-Ordinator Leonard Hatcher. Arthur Marrion, chief sector leader and Frederick Sellers of the St. John's Ambulance, also spoke.

Chairman was Cedar Hill sector leader George Ballantyne.

The junction of the Ganges and Jumna Rivers in India is regarded by all Hindus as the most sacred of places.

Doukhobor Story Told By U.B.C. Professor

The story of Doukhobors in Canada was told to a large crowd in the auditorium of Victoria College Normal School last night by Dr. H. B. Hawthorn, professor of anthropology, University of British Columbia.

Dr. Hawthorn reviewed the history of the Doukhobors' series of forced moves throughout Russia, during the latter part of the 19th century brought about by their refusal to recognize church or state.

Leo Tolstoi, writer and philosopher, he said, was the first to take up the cause of these people. He saw in them a realization of the type of living of which he wrote.

Through his efforts, humanitarian organizations in Europe and England took the necessary steps to have them released from Russia, and accepted into Canada.

"Canada was eager to accept them," Hawthorn said. "She needed immigrants badly, and they were welcomed to Saskatchewan."

FIRST RIFT

The first rift in their ranks started almost immediately, he said. Many of them wanted to be independent farmers, and broke from the communal life. Those who wanted to continue as a community saw they would have to move elsewhere, or accept the demands of government and compulsory schooling.

This they were not prepared to do, and moved to B.C., where they were again welcomed as new settlers.

Since that time there have been several divisions of the original sect. Many have accepted the Canadian way of life, those who will not find themselves constantly at odds with the law, he said.

Under the heading of what can be done about them Dr. Hawthorn had several suggestions.

He suggested some of our laws could be ammended to give them more freedom for their beliefs, or just the opposite: the government could inflict heavier penalties on them.

SIMPLE PHILOSOPHY

"Some of the conditions are not easy to correct," he said. "They have a simple philosophy that they learn as children, and try to pattern their lives on," he said.

He showed this would be an extremely difficult thing to break down.

"They also don't consider us good mediators. They think we have too many flaws ourselves," he added.

Non-Doukhobors look upon Doukhobors as immoral, clannish, undependable, hard bargainers and hypocrites, he said.

"They think the same things of us, plus the fact that we are drunkards. This makes bargaining with them very difficult," he said.

Coffee Bar Invades Calm Hotel

Calm of the Empress Hotel's world famous silver-serviced tea hour, soft music in the background, will soon be threatened by a modern trend.

Hotel officials last night confirmed reports an ultra-modern coffee shop will be established within the hotel's ivy-clad walls, for the first time in its history.

The new coffee shop will be located downstairs in the spot now occupied by the Tudor Grill Room, long a favored luncheon meeting place of service clubs here.

Contract for the shop has been awarded to David W. Burnett, Victoria. Final plans have not yet been approved by the head office in Montreal.

Reduce Fee, Motorists Ask Wismer

A $15 reduction in B.C. automobile license fees has been asked by the B.C. Automobile Association.

An association delegate appeared before Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer with the request and also asked reduction of the gasoline tax.

The association requests will be discussed with the cabinet, the association reported Mr. Wismer as saying.

BIG DIVISION

The South Island of New Zealand has an area of 58,000 square miles, compared to 44,000 square miles in the North Island.

Adventurer Seeks Partner

A partner for his projected South Sea jaunt is being sought by Victoria adventurer Jim Squire.

The former B.C. amateur golf champion left his trim yacht, Te Hongi, at Coos Bay, Oregon, after he and his former partner Jacques Markwalder separated there.

Squire returned to Victoria to look for a volunteer.

He says he may have found a shipmate, but refused to give details.

Wholesale Egg Prices Show One-Cent Boost

A one-cent-a-dozen rise in prices for Grade A medium and small eggs has been reported by wholesalers.

The increase will place wholesale prices at 50-51 cents for Grade A large, 47-48 for Grade A medium, 46-47 for Grade A small and 42 for Grade B eggs.

Meanwhile, seasonal fruits and vegetables have been arriving from various centres of the continent.

Lethbridge washed potatoes are available, while new white potatoes have arrived from California and new reds will arrive tomorrow from Florida. The latter will retail at about two pounds for 25 cents.

Florida grapefruit will arrive tomorrow and California cabbages, carrots and other vegetables will arrive this week also.

Government certified seed potatoes are available, retailing at about 10 cents a pound.

Mexican green peas and Texas-grown spinach are expected later this week. Prices are not available.

Late seasonal Okanagan Valley apples are in good supply, it was reported.

Culbertson on Bridge - - -

(Copyright 1952, by Ely Culbertson)

The average player's conception of "sign-off" bidding is (to put it kindly) a little foggy. Look at North's bidding behavior in the following case:

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ A J 9 6
♥ Q 8 5
♦ K J 4 2

| WEST | EAST |
|---|---|
| ♠ K 7 2 | ♠ Q 8 5 4 |
| ♥ 9 3 2 | ♥ J |
| ♦ Q 9 3 | ♦ A 10 7 6 |
| ♣ K Q 10 3 | ♣ J 8 4 2 |

SOUTH
♠ 10 3
♥ A K 10 7 6 4
♣ A 9 5

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♥ | Pass | 1 ♠ | Pass |
| 2 ♥ | Pass | Pass | Pass |

West opened the club king. Declarer won and returned the spade ten. When West played low, dummy did likewise, and East won with the queen. The club return was taken by West, who now shifted to a low diamond, but South made the winning guess of the jack from dummy and so ended up with two overtricks.

It is true that a four-heart contract might have met defeat against less favorable breaks, but the fact remains that North was something less than enterprising when he passed to two hearts. Discussing the result with South, North said, "But how could I bid again, with only about two tricks, when you signed off with two hearts?"

There are too many contract players who have the same notion North had. Let's analyze:

Everyone knows that the opener must not jump his rebid unless he holds a very powerful hand, with either a long, strong suit of his own, or good support for partner's suit, or another suit of his own in a very good hand. Obviously, South's holding did not conform to any of these requirements, so he could do nothing but bid two hearts over one spade. To treat this as an intended sign-off, however, is to claim that a hand is either very big or very bad, when the obvious fact is that there are millions of "in between" holdings. Thus, the non-jump rebid of a suit cannot be treated as a sign-off.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

CHIEF'S PIANO PLAYING

While Uncle Wiggily, outside the snow house, was being caught by Mr. and Mrs. Fox, as I told you in yesterday's story, inside the snow house the party was going on and on and on.

One of the nicest things about the party, besides the ice cream, cake and candy, was the piano playing of Chief the police dog. Uncle Wiggily had especially invited Chief to the party.

"I will have a telephone put in the snow house," said Mr. Longears. "You can leave word at Police Headquarters that you are at my party. Then, if anything happens that you need to attend to, Sergeant Bill can telephone you. How about that, Chief?"

"That will be fine," the police dog had answered. So he came to the party and played the piano. The piano was very funny. It was made of tin cans of different sizes. The big cans had low, deep notes like the left hand keys on a regular piano. The little cans had high, shrill music like the keys on the right-hand side of your piano. And, of course, there were in between sizes of tin cans that made in-between musical notes.

Chief played one tune that was called: "Wait 'Till The Sun Turns Upside Down." It was a very jolly tune.

Chief played another song called: "If You Can't Eat Cake then Eat Some Pie but Don't Get Any in Your Left Hand Eye." And when that jolly song was finished, with Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy joining in, Bunty the orphan rabbit hopped over to where Chief was sitting at the piano.

"Yes, Bunty, what is it, please?" the police dog asked. "Do you want me to play the song called "Please Come Over and Jump With My Rope and I'll Come Over and Sail in Your Boat'? Do you want that song, Bunty?"

"Thank you, Chief, not now, if you please," answered the orphan rabbit. "But could you please tell me where is Uncle Wiggily? I want him to see me dance on one ear."

"He just went outside with Clarence the fox," said Nurse Jane. "He was going to show Clarence the North Star."

"Oh, my goodness me sakes alive and a peanut shell full of marshmallow candy!" exclaimed Chief. "Uncle Wiggily out in the dark with Clarence the fox boy! I don't trust that little fox even if he wears a white birch bark collar and a red oak leaf necktie. Where Clarence is you may also look for his father and mother. They are two big foxes who do not like Uncle Wiggily. I must go out and see if my rabbit friend is all right."

Chief jumped off the piano stool and, taking his two playing sticks with him, ran outside the snow house. The police dog was just in time.

"Let me go! Let me go!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"No! No! We will not let you go!" barked Mr. Fox.

"Oh, yes you will!" shouted Chief the police dog. "I am going to play the piano on your noses!" Chief rushed at the two big foxes. He hit Mr. Fox on the nose with one stick and Mr. Fox howled "Um—Aha!" Then Chief hit Mrs. Fox on her nose and the lady fox howled: "Wumpa—Wumpa!"

Then the foxes let go of Uncle Wiggily and ran away and Clarence the boy fox ran with them. So Uncle Wiggily was saved in a funny way just as I told you would happen.

That's the end of this story. But I will have another story ready for you tomorrow, if the piggie bank doesn't fall in a snowdrift and catch cold so that it sneezes all the pennies out and there will be none left to buy a lollipop for the pussy cat.

Union Armada to Sail Here To Present Brief to House

The legislative buildings may be the scene of two labor lobbies during the present session.

The Allied Fishermen's Union will form a fishboat armada at the mouth of the Fraser River March 8 and sail to Victoria.

They will demand protection under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The Canadian Congress of Labor is spearheading a drive to have the Trades and Labor Congress and Standard Railway Brotherhoods unite their 125,000 members for a representative march on Victoria.

George Home, B.C. Federation of Labor (C.C.L.) secretary at Vancouver, said his union would press for complete hearings on the Workmen's Compensation Act, labor code and hospital insurance by the present legislature.

Thomas Carrington, president of the A.F.U. Victoria local, said about 135 members are represented in the capital, mostly shore workers.

At present only a small portion of fishermen are covered by the compensation act.

Mr. Home said at Vancouver that $3,000,000 a year has been lost to B.C. workers because of delay in amending the act.

On legislative developments, he said, a "deep freeze" was experienced by organized labor at the hands of the Coalition.

Victoria members of the T.L.C. unions have not received word whether a joint lobby is being formed. It's anticipated. However, the two leading organizations would join in seeking immediate action on recommended legislation.

Government policy announced recently was that four recommendations would be dealt with in the Workmen's Compensation Act Royal Commission recommendations and that the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act and Hospital Insurance Act inquiry committee recommendations would be delayed.

One Person Hurt Sunday In Three City Crashes

One person was injured and four cars received moderate damage Sunday in three separate accidents in Victoria.

Darleen Powell, 1212 Princess, passenger in a car driven by John L. Weeks, 1212 Princess, was treated for a cut forehead at Royal Jubilee Hospital following a two-car collision at Chambers and Princess.

Driver of the other car was L. S. Wills, 2024 Mildowne, police said. Damage to the cars was slight.

Damage was moderate, police said, in another collision at Cook and Pandora.

The cars were driven by Christian Jeorgensen, 2074 Arbutus Road, and Eleanor Child, 16 Beach Drive.

On Sunday evening moderate damage was caused in another two-car crash at Fort and St. Charles. The vehicles were diven by Audrey W. Munday, 1604 Belmont, and G. C. Jones, 3029 Balfour.

A red blood corpuscle has an average life of from 30 to 70 days.

M.L.A. Defends Indian Behavior

British Columbia Indians aren't as badly behaved as some press reports might have indicated, R. C. Steel (Lib., Omineca) told the provincial Legislature yesterday.

He said that since Indians were given the right to drink in beer parlors, there had been reports of considerable drunkenness.

He said a survey had been made in his district to find out if the reports were true.

He found that, of 1,000 Indians in his riding, only 35 had been convicted of drunkenness in December and January, and the figure is still going down.

Mr. Steel spoke in glowing terms of the Alcan development which "is beyond the wildest expectations of any of us."

One aspect of the development that "was not so well received," however, was the resettlement of Ootsa Lake farmers, whose property will eventually be flooded.

He said he thought the farmers had good cause for their complaints, but that the problem is now being worked out.

W. A. C. Bennett (Ind., South Okanagan) said he had heard that "new regulations are curtailing the negotiations" between Alcan and the farmers, and that "Alcan is now being much harsher."

Mr. Steel said the matter has now gone to arbitration, and that only 14 farmers are now involved. He said he hoped for a settlement soon, but "some people, I'm afraid, will never be satisfied."

What doctors now know about sinus trouble

Sinusitis is a tricky illness: it may go away without any treatment — or flare overnight into agony and death-dealing infection.

Paul de Kruif reports on the fight against sinus trouble in March Reader's Digest.

He explains what sinusitis is; how the new miracle drugs like penicillin can help cure it; but why any attempt to treat it without a doctor is dangerous.

Esquimalt Police Court

Drivers Plead Guilty, Fined Total of $190

Three motorists pleaded guilty to traffic infractions when they appeared in Esquimalt police court yesterday, and were fined a total of $190.

John Waselenchuk, Island Highway, was fined $15 for speeding and an additional $75 for violating a restricted driver's license.

A careless driving charge against Michael O'Brian, H.M.C.S. Ontario drew a $40 fine with an additional $25 for operating a car without a current driver's license.

William H. Pugh, 816 Condor, was fined $35 for careless driving.

F. G. O'Leary, 816 Condor, charged with assaulting Marion Smith and causing actual bodily harm, was convicted and remanded to March 3 for sentence and a probation officer's report.

A further charge of common assault against O'Leary was remanded to the same day for judgment.

Home Nursing Training Set

Home nursing training for civil defense will start with a meeting at Red Cross House at 7.30 p.m. Thursday, Civil Defense Co-ordinator Leonard G. Hatcher announced yesterday.

The training is being conducted by the medical and health services committee of the civil defense organization.

Information on the course will be available at the meeting, or from civil defense headquarters, B 7533.

The civil defense control board will meet at 2.30 p.m. today in the market building, Mr. Hatcher said.

Fruit Growers Plan Meeting

Saanich Fruit Growers' Association will hold public meetings March 4 and 5 at the Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton.

Among speakers will be G. R. Webster and E. H. Gardner, both of the experimental station, as well as members of the provincial agriculture department, association members and other guests.

Topics will include irrigation water and equipment, weed control, handling crops, and others.

Dates Set For Play About Brontes

The St. Luke Players' production of "The Brontes," by Alfred Sangster, will be shown March 11, 13, 14 and 15.

Months of research went into the staging of the play about the famed Bronte sisters. Carol MacCormac will play Emily, Evanne Murray, Charlotte, and Mary Cairns, Anne.

Others in the cast of 17 are Charles Gibson and Constance Wright.

Tickets for the play, at St. Luke's Hall, Cedar Hill Cross Road, will be on sale at Fletcher's.

Mother, 19, Convicted; Jailed for Six Months

A 19-year-old mother, who earlier pleaded guilty to four charges of retaining stolen property, was sentenced to six months in jail by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court yesterday.

Mrs. Janet Parker, 3130 Yew, appeared unconcerned in the prisoners' box when the magistrate handed down the sentence.

"In view of your previous [illegible] months," the magistrate said.

Mrs. Sylvia J. Anderson, also 19, and living at the same address, who pleaded guilty to the same charges, was released on probation and ordered to enter into a $500 bond for one year and report monthly for three months to the probation officer.

David A. Younger, Duncan, charged with stealing a radio valued at more than $25, the property of Marshall Wells Limited, pleaded guilty and was remanded to Wednesday for sentence and a probation report.

Union Armada to Sail Here To Present Brief to House

The legislative buildings may be the scene of two labor lobbies during the present session.

The Allied Fishermen's Union will form a fishboat armada at the mouth of the Fraser River March 8 and sail to Victoria.

They will demand protection under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The Canadian Congress of Labor is spearheading a drive to have the Trades and Labor Congress and Standard Railway Brotherhoods unite their 125,000 members for a representative march on Victoria.

George Home, B.C. Federation of Labor (C.C.L.) secretary at Vancouver, said his union would press for complete hearings on the Workmen's Compensation Act, labor code and hospital insurance by the present legislature.

Thomas Carrington, president of the A.F.F. Victoria local, said about 135 members are represented in the capital, mostly shore workers.

At present only a small portion of fishermen are covered by the compensation act.

Mr. Home said at Vancouver that $3,000,000 a year has been lost to B.C. workers because of delay in amending the act.

On legislative developments, he said, a "deep freeze" was experienced by organized labor at the hands of the Coalition.

Victoria members of the T.L.C. unions have not received word whether a joint lobby is being formed. It's anticipated, however, the two leading organizations would join in seeking immediate action on recommended legislation.

Government policy announced recently was that four recommendations would be dealt with in the Workmen's Compensation Act -Royal Commission recommendations and that the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act and Hospital Insurance Act inquiry committee recommendations would be delayed.

One Person Hurt Sunday In Three City Crashes

One person was injured and four cars received moderate damage Sunday in three separate accidents in Victoria.

Darleen Powell, 1212 Princess, passenger in a car driven by John L. Weeks, 1212 Princess, was treated for a cut forehead at Royal Jubilee Hospital following a two-car collision at Chambers and Princess.

Driver of the other car was L. S. Wills, 2024 Mildowne, police said. Damage to the cars was slight.

Damage was moderate, police said, in another collision at Cook and Pandora.

The cars were driven by Christian Jeorgensen, 2074 Arbutus Road, and Eleanor Child, 16 Beach Drive.

On Sunday evening moderate damage was caused in another two-car crash at Fort and St. Charles. The vehicles were diven by Audrey W. Munday, 1604 Belmont, and G. C. Jones, 3029 Balfour.

M.L.A. Defends Indian Behavior

British Columbia Indians aren't as badly behaved as some press reports might have indicated, R. C. Steel (Lib., Omineca) told the provincial Legislature yesterday.

He said that since Indians were given the right to drink in beer parlors, there had been reports of considerable drunkenness.

He said a survey had been made in his district to find out if the reports were true.

He found that, of 1,000 Indians in his riding, only 35 had been convicted of drunkenness in December and January, and the figure is still going down.

Mr. Steel spoke in glowing terms of the Alcan development which "is beyond the wildest expectations of any of us."

One aspect of the development that "was not so well received," however, was the resettlement of Ootsa Lake farmers, whose property will eventually be flooded.

He said he thought the farmers had good cause for their complaints, but that the problem is now being worked out.

W. A. C. Bennett (Ind., South Okanagan) said he had heard that "new regulations are curtailing the negotiations" between Alcan and the farmers, and that "Alcan is now being much harsher."

Mr. Steel said the matter has now gone to arbitration, and that only 14 farmers are now involved. He said he hoped for a settlement soon, but "some people, I'm afraid, will never be satisfied."

What doctors now know about sinus trouble

Sinusitis is a tricky illness: it may go away without any treatment — or flare overnight into agony and death-dealing infection.

Paul de Kruif reports on the fight against sinus trouble in March Reader's Digest.

He explains what sinusitis is; how the new miracle drugs like penicillin can help cure it; but why any attempt to treat it without a doctor is dangerous.

Esquimalt Police Court

Drivers Plead Guilty, Fined Total of $190

Three motorists pleaded guilty to traffic infractions when they appeared in Esquimalt police court yesterday, and were fined a total of $190.

John Waselenchuk, Island Highway, was fined $15 for speeding and an additional $75 for violating a restricted driver's license.

A careless driving charge against Michael O'Brian, H.M.C.S. Ontario drew a $40 fine with an additional $25 for operating a car without a current driver's license.

William H. Pugh, 816 Condor, was fined $35 for careless driving.

F. G. O'Leary, 816 Condor, charged with assaulting Marion Smith and causing actual bodily harm, was convicted and remanded to March 3 for sentence and a probation officer's report.

A further charge of common assault against O'Leary was remanded to the same day for judgment.
